HINTS FOR THE HOME.

CHIMNEY ON FIRE.—Throw plenty of salt in the fire, and prevent a draught by closing doors and windows.

FAINTING FITS.—One who has fainted should be placed in a horizontal position, cold water sprinkled on the face, and friction applied to the legs and arms.

SOME TESTS FOR OVEN HEAT.—To judge of an oven's heat, try the oven every ten minutes with a piece of white paper. If too hot, the paper will blaze up or blacken. When the paper becomes dark brown—rather darker than ordinary meat pie crust—the oven is fit for small pastry. When light brown, the colour of nice pastry, it is ready for tarts. When the paper turns dark yellow, you can bake bread, large meat pies, or poundcakes; while if it is just tinged, the oven is fit for spongecake and meringues.

CASES OF POISONING.—Brook no delay. Endeavour to excite vomiting by tickling the throat with a feather, or incline the patient forward and gently beat between the shoulders. A tablespoonful of mustard in a small quantity of warm water is a good antidote.

PAINT.—To remove the smell of fresh paint, stand a pail of water in the newly-painted room. Into the pail cut up an onion or two, or put in a large handful of hay, for either will help to carry off the smell of paint quicker than the water alone would do. After some hours throw away the contents of the pail, and if any painty smell still lingers, fill it as before and let it stand in the room a few hours longer.

SUNSTROKE.—A person who has collapsed with sunstroke should have cold water bandages applied to the head, which should be raised. Remove or loosen all tight clothing. Avoid stimulants in any form.

WHEN THERE IS NO SOFT WATER.—Follow this suggestion and see how well you do your laundry work without the aid of soda. Draw sufficient water for the washing three or four days before it is required, and expose it in tubs, &c., to the action of the air and sun, which will render it soft and fit for use.

THE USES OF ALUM.—Alum should never be absent from any household. It checks bleeding effectually. Alum boiled in small quantities is good for toothache; it must be held in the mouth, but not swallowed.

TO TEST THE PURITY OF WATER.—Take some of the suspected water in a clean glass-stoppered bottle; add a little pure cane sugar, expose, having well stopped the bottle, to the light in a warm room. Should the water, even after a week's exposure, become turbid, it is dangerously impure for drinking; if it remains clear, it is safe.

GOOD GLUE.—If you wish to stick anything, and have no glue in the house, try this: Take a small piece of cold potato which has been boiled, and rub it up and down on a piece of paper with your fingers for about five minutes. It will become the right consistency, and stick as well as the strongest glue.

TO TREAT A CUT.—Draw the edges of the cut well together and bind up tightly with linen rag. Soak the rag about the cut with Friar's balsam or diluted tincture of arnica, in the proportion of one part of arnica to ten parts of water. Both these preparations are so useful that they should always be kept ready. It is useless to think of applying plaster until the bleeding has stopped.

USEFUL IN THE KITCHEN.—Borax is a very useful thing to have in the kitchen. Add a little to the water when boiling out enamelled saucepans, and it will help to cleanse them. If added to the water dishcloths are washed in, it will help to keep them a nice colour.

MOTHS IN THE CARPET.—These can be killed by spreading a cloth wrung out of water on the infected places, and then ironing lightly with a hot iron. Do not press hard to injure the pile. It is the steam that kills the moth, not the pressure. It is well to repeat the treatment once or twice at intervals of about a fortnight. Fresh eggs may have been hatched meanwhile.

TO CURE A STY.—The best thing to do is to bathe the eyes frequently with warm boracic lotion (five grains to one ounce of water), and apply at night a piece of boracic lint wrung out of boiling water; cover with a piece of jaconet and a pad of cotton wool on top; fix with a bandage.

If new tinware is rubbed over with fresh lard, then thoroughly heated in the oven before it is used, it will never rust afterwards, no matter how much it is put into water. If the teapot or coffee-pot is discoloured on the inside, boil it for a short time in a strong solution of borax, and all its brightness will return.

Soak gelatine in sufficient cold water to cover before adding it to jellies or creams.

If a lamp should be overturned do not attempt to put out the flame with water, for it will simply spread it. Instead, throw down flour, sand, garden earth, or salt, any of which will have the desired effect.

Before boiling milk, always rinse out the saucepan with cold water, to prevent the milk from burning.

A good disinfectant in sickness, when disinfectants are needed in sinks and basins, is carbolic acid, allowing four tablespoonfuls to each pint of cold water; pour down the pipes, and let it remain half an hour before flushing.

Mix pastry several hours before it is to be rolled out, and much labour is saved. It should stand in a cool place.

To stop bleeding from the nose apply cold water to the nape of the neck, immerse the face in cold water, or dash vinegar and water up the nostrils.

To make leather boots waterproof, saturate them with castor oil; to stop squeaking, drive a peg into the middle of the sole.

When making mayonnaise sauce, select a very cool place for the purpose. If made in a hot kitchen, it is apt to separate in the process.

Hot water should never be poured over roast beef for gravy. The water ruins the flavour of the meat, and soddens it.

A strip of carpet glued to a piece of wood will remove mud from boots very quickly, and without the slightest injury to the leather, and is much better than the usual brush.

Articles made of brass may be kept bright and free from tarnish if you will cover them with a thin coat of varnish made of colourless shellac and alcohol which may be procured at any drug store.

Paint stains may be removed with turpentine, tar stains with lard. Pour boiling water from a height upon tea stains. Wash iodine stains with ammonia and water until the spot disappears.

Leather that has become dull and shabby looking may be much improved in appearance by being rubbed over with the white of an egg, well beaten.

Tomatoes should be skinned before being added to a salad. To do this, place the tomatoes in a basin, and pour boiling water over. Drain off at once, and the peel is easily removed.

See that the sides or wall of your meat safes are occasionally scoured with soap, or soap and slaked lime. All places where provisions are kept should be so constructed that a brisk current of cool air can be made to pass through them at will.

A mixture that will remove grease from the finest fabrics, without injuring them, is made with one quart of rain water, two ounces of ammonia, one teaspoonful of saltpetre, and one ounce of shaving soap, cut up fine. It should be kept constantly on hand.

A floor should never be swept in a room where there is a contagious patient. It should be washed with a cloth dipped in borax water, so that no dust annoys the patient and no assortment of germs are flung up in the air to drift out of the window.

When peeling onions, begin at the root end and peel upwards, and the onions will scarcely affect the eyes at all.

If you have a covered pan in which to roast meat, never open it to baste the meat. Keep covered from first to last. The idea is that the pan is full of steam, which penetrates the fibre of the meat. If desired to brown the outside, leave the cover off a short time in a quick oven.

Tough fowls will be as tender as chickens if they are steamed for several hours. Serve with white or parsley sauce.

To clean patent leather boots which have got a bit shabby French harness polish is most useful. It can be bought at any saddler's. Apply a very little of it to the boots, and then polish with a soft, woolly cloth. Besides making the boots shine beautifully, it prevents the leather from cracking.

If stockings are washed before being worn, they will last twice as long. Stockings should always be washed apart from other clothing.

When washing silk, add a teaspoonful of methylated spirit to each gallon of rinsing water, and the silk will look bright and new.

In kitchens where cockroaches are found borax is invaluable. Powdered borax should be sprinkled round the stove and about all corners and crannies so infested. When the borax is swept away, it should be replaced with more at once. If this remedy is steadily persisted in, the kitchen will be free of the pests in a surprisingly short time.

Cockroaches are often got rid of by making wafers of red led, flour, and water, rolled out very thin, and then placed on a baking board to dry; but as these wafers are very poisonous, they must be kept out of the way of children and pet animals.

In burning garbage in the range, it is a mistake to put it directly on the fire. Put it under the side or back lids, where the fire does not come in contact with it, and it will dry out. It is the best to put garbage in the stove at night, and by the morning it is dried to a tinder, and will blaze up and burn, when the fire gets hotter, leaving no odour whatever.

Ink, fruit, and wine stains can be removed from linen if soaked as soon as possible in milk, and kept moist for an hour or two. Then spread salts of lemon on the stain, and let it remain all night. Next wash the linen, rub the stain well with soap. and place in tepid water with a little ammonia, two tablespoonsful to the gallon, let it boil, rinse in the ordinary manner, and bleach on the grass.

A kerosine tin should always be kept tightly corked. Unless this is done the oil will not yield such a good light as it ought to do.

Before brushing papered walls cover a broom with a bag made of Canton flannel. Shake out the dust frequently during the process, and you will be surprised to see how much dirt will have been collected. Then mix flour and water to a stiff dough and knead until smooth. Go over the paper with this, always rubbing in one direction, and lapping strokes enough not to leave a soiled streak. When the dough becomes soiled, pare off a thin slice, or knead it over. It does not take long to clean a room if this method is followed.

To clean raisins and currants, roll in flour, and then pick off all large stalks. If currants are washed, they must be dried before being added to cakes.

All packed eggs contain a little gas. Therefore, when boiling them, they crack and often ooze out. This is prevented by making a pin-hole in the blunt end of the eggs to be cooked. Hold the egg in the shell, and give a quick, sharp blow, only sufficient to drive the pin through the shell without any injury to the egg.

To prevent made mustard from drying and caking in the mustard-pot, mix a little salt when making it, and it should always be made with boiling water.

In cleaning chimneys, windows, glassware of any kind, a tablespoonful of ammonia should always be added to the water. Glasses and jars that have contained milk should always be plunged in cold water before they are washed in hot water. The same is true of cups or spoons that have come in contact with eggs, either raw or cooked.

Warm plates and dishes by pouring boiling water over them. There is not the chance of their cracking and becoming brown as when they are put in the oven.

Metal teapots, if disused for some time, give a musty flavour to the tea when next used. This may be prevented by placing a lump of sugar in the teapot before putting away.

Ammonia will restore colours taken out by acids. It will not injure the garment.

Ivory knife handles that have grown yellow with age or bad usage may be whitened by rubbing gently with fine sandpaper, and then polishing up with a clean chamois leather.

Putting on new paper over the old is like putting on a clean shirt over the one a man has worn a week. No matter how high a standup collar he may put on, that old shirt is not clean, and nothing but soap and water and elbow grease can make it so. Scrape off the old paper, and burn it. Lots of the things the smart folks call bacteria will go with it.

When purchasing tinned meat, notice the tin. If it bulges outwards in any part, the tin is probably unfit to eat, an outward bulge being a sign that the tin was not properly sealed, and air has got in.

To keep sponges soft and white, wash them in warm water with a little tartaric acid in it, then rinse in plenty of cold water. Care must be taken not to put too much tartaric acid, or the sponges will be spoilt.

Flannel should not be used in needle-books for sticking needles into, as flannel is often prepared with sulphur, which will rust the needles. A piece of fine linen or chamois leather is better.

Boots and shoes, however damp, may have a lovely dark polish put on in a few seconds, if a drop or two of kerosine oil be added to the blacking. It also prevents the leather from cracking, and helps the shoes to wear longer.

It is a mistake to lay scrubbing brushes with the bristle side upwards. They should always be put with the bristles down, otherwise the water will soak into the wooden part, and the bristles very soon become loose.

When a whitewashed ceiling has become blackened, apply a layer of starch and water to it, with a piece of soft flannel. Allow the starch to dry on, and then brush off lightly, using a brush. The blackness will disappear, leaving no mark whatever.

To wash new flannel put it into clean cold water, and let it remain for a week, changing the water frequently. Wash well in warm water, using a little soap to remove the oil. Flannels thus washed never harden or shrink.

To clean water bottles, take one tablespoonful of tea leaves cold, and one tablespoonful of vinegar, and put into your water bottle, and fill up with cold water, let it stand a while, then empty it out, and rinse with clean water, when it will be found to shine like new.

When preparing sandwiches for a large company, it is sometimes necessary to make them several hours in advance of the serving. If a napkin is wrung out of hot water and wrapped around the sandwiches, which should then be placed in a cool room, they will keep as fresh and moist as though just prepared.

Before grating lemons, it is well to wash them in a basin of lukewarm water, for on examination, it will be found that the outside of a lemon is anything but clean, and if put under a microscope, it will be discovered to have many tiny specks on it, which are the minute eggs of an insect.

When shaking heavy rugs, hold from the sides, never the ends. If possible, spread on clean grass or boards with the wrong side up; beat first to dislodge the dirt, then brush thoroughly, and hang on the line to air, using judgment about leaving too long in the hot sun. This is the method employed by the Turks, who should be connoisseurs in the care of rugs.

Wash your new blankets as follows: Soak them in plenty of cold water for about an hour previous to washing. This cold steep is to draw out the sulphur used in dressing the wool. New blankets require much stronger soapsuds than old ones, and must be rinsed through a greater number of waters.

Baby flannels or white flannels of any sort are shrunk by having boiling water poured over them and leaving them in the water until it is cold. In drying they should not be wrung out, but seized and pressed and shaken to free from water, and then hung out till partly dry. Roll up smoothly while still damp, and iron with a cool iron after they have lain rolled for twenty minutes.

When paper cannot be retained on a wall by reason of dampness, make a coating of the following ingredients: A quarter of a pound of shellac and a quart of naphtha. Brush the wall thoroughly with the mixture, and allow it to dry perfectly, and you will find this process will render the wall impervious to moisture and the paper in no danger of being loosened.

The walls of a room near the door are often greatly damaged by the door handles knocking against them when the door is flung wide open. To prevent this, take a fairly large spool, cover it first with cotton-wool or wadding, and then with velvet or cloth, so as to make it look neat, and fasten it to the floor about four inches from the wall behind the door. Then the handle cannot damage the wall.

Never let a birdcage hang in a room where the lamp is alight, unless it is exceptionally well ventilated; the air by the ceiling is always the most impure at night. Set the cage on the ground, and you will find the bird's health improved. After the lamp has been lighted some time, put your head near the ceiling, and see how you like the atmosphere; you will soon realise how impure it is.

Housekeepers may be glad to know that instead of lard or bacon-rind a turnip cut in half and the griddle thoroughly rubbed with the raw side, will answer the purpose of greasing, fry the cakes a nice rich brown, and there will be no sticking, and no odour or taste of the turnip.

Always keep cheese well covered in a cheese dish. If wrapped in a vinegar moistened cloth it will keep beautifully most, and retain its flavour longer.

Clean your iron cooking-utensils with a piece of soft red brick.

When making pastry, roll in one direction only if you want it to be light. Rolling first in one direction and then in another is almost sure to make it tough.

Brown paper moistened in vinegar will polish your tins until they shine like silver.

It will be found very useful to keep a high stool in the kitchen, on which you may sit to prepare vegetables, wash dishes, or iron. It can often be used in place of a step-ladder.

Rub a drop of olive oil on your knives and forks before putting away, and they will retain their brightness and be free from rust.

A kitchen table covered with zinc is a great labour-saver. It is easily cleaned, and is not injured by cutting meat or vegetables, but it will last a lifetime, and, considering the labour it saves, the cost is an insignificant matter.

To clean flat-irons, rub them on green cedar.

"The proper way to hang woollens," says a large manufacturer of woollen goods, "is to hang the garments on the line dripping wet without wringing at all. If dried in this way, the shrinking will be so slight as to be almost unnoticeable."

Wash your stove with vinegar before polishing, and mark the result.

When washing chamois leather leave as much soap as possible in it, and when dry it will be as good as new.

Save all old zinc, and when chimneys are filled with soot, put a quantity on the fire. It will carry all soot out of stove-pipes and clean the chimney.

Bronzed lamps, chandeliers, &c., should be merely dusted with a feather brush or with a soft cloth, as washing them will take off the bronzing.

Rose-petals make a delightful filling for sofa-pillows. Save them from withered bouquets. They may be treated as for potpourri or used with their own delicate perfume only.

To soften brushes that have become hard, soak them 24 hours in raw linseed oil and rinse them out in hot turpentine, repeating the process till clean, or wash them in hot soda and water and soft soap.

When you come home from shopping, or are tired from any cause, try a cupful of hot milk. It is very refreshing, as well as nourishing. The only point to be remembered is to take it in sips and not in one draught.

To clean water bottles and decanters, mix together half a gill of water and a handful of salt. Shake well in the decanters to be cleaned, and no matter how discoloured, this treatment has been tried and found successful.

Table napkins can be made from the sound portions of old damask tablecloths. From your very finest table linen when worn out you can generally cut small pieces which, edged with a pretty lace in netting or crochet, will make dainty cake d'oyleys.

Never rinse white lace in blue water under the impression that this will improve the colour. Real lace should be finally rinsed in skim milk, which will give it the soft, creamy tint so much admired.

To keep your frying pan nice always wipe it out with brown paper directly after using and before washing. An omelette pan should never be washed, but rubbed clean with brown paper.

Many a gas range would be improved if once or twice a week the burners were removed, turned upside down, and gently tapped, to remove particles of food or dust. The tiny apertures should be cleansed by having the point of a hatpin run through them, and the whole should be kept clean by frequent rubbing and scouring with hot suds.

Turkish towelling of the heaviest kind, cut into squares or rounds and edged with buttonhole stitch in thick red crochet cotton, makes very pretty and cheap toilet mat for the washingstand. Little accessories such as these make all the difference between a daintily-appointed bedroom and one which is merely furnished.

Kitchen paints will soon acquire a shabby, dull look from the frequent cleaning thar is always necessary in the kitchen. The use of soap only increases the difficulty, especially if the paints are varnished. The best plan is to boil one pound of bran in a gallon of water for an hour, then wash the paint with this bran water, and it will not only be kept clean, but bright and glossy.

An apple tart or pudding is given a delicious flavour by cooking a slice or two of ripe lemon with the fruit. A nice flavour is also imparted by using all the apple pips in the fruit. They should never be thrown away with the cores.

If you wish to paper whitewashed walls, wash the m in strong vinegar. The acid acks the ime, making a rough surface, to which the paper wi adhere.

All soaps, toilet or laundry or household, go much further if kept for some time in a dry place before using. New soap lathers too freely to waste, therefore it is more economical to buy a quantity and keep the bars or cakes some time, instead of buying it as you actually want it.

Soak coloured cotton dresses before washing them in a solution made by putting one spoonful of ox-gall in a gallon of water, to stay the colours.

Fireirons that are allowed to get rusty entail great expense. The rust eats away the steel, and soon destroys it past hope of repair. To take off the first spots that appear, the fireirons should be covered with sweet oil, rubbing it hard in; and the next day they should be rubbed with powder of unslaked lime until the rust is quite removed. Emery will do equally well. The rubbing should be done with a spongy piece of wood.

Do not throw away the rinds of lemons or oranges. Put the former into a pan with water and a little sugar, and boil for ten minutes. This makes a liquor which does well to flavour bread or milk puddings. The latter, when very dry, are splendid for reviving a dying fire. Keep them in a bag near your kitchen or drawing-room fire-side, and you will save many a relighting.

Eggs that are to be kept should be stood on the small end of the egg, and not the broad end.

To clean and renew black chiffon, lace, veils or ribbons boil an old black kid glove in water; strain the liquid thus made through a cloth and dilute it with warm water. When cold take a smooth, uncovered ironing-board; upon it place the article to be cleaned, and with a sponge dipped in the solution go over a small portion at a time; smooth out every crease, making the article stick lightly to the board. Take good care to keep the edges straight. Leave it on the board until dry, then peel it off carefully, and the article will look crisp and fresh.

Stoning raisons will not be found so disagreeably sticky a task if a little butter is rubbed on the fingers.

Half a lemon dipped in salt will do the work of oxalic acid in cleaning copper boilers, brass tea-kettles, etc.

The objectionable smell of cabbage in the process of being cooked can be got rid of if a piece of breadcrumb is tied in a fine muslin rag and placed in the saucepan with the water. After this has been on the fire for about 15 minutes it should be taken out and burnt.

When fagged out, drop a fresh egg in a glass of lemonade; shake well together and drink it slowly. Do not put in too much sugar.

Glass jars are now used by progressive housekeepers for spices, cereals, and other such supplies. They have obvious advantages over opaque receptacles, and it is an easy matter to collect them by buying goods that are put up in glass.

Pleasant Deodorizers.—Reduce to powder eight drachms of cascarilla bark, four drachms of gum benzoin, two drachms of styrax, two drachms of yellow sanvers, two drachms of olibanum, six ounces of charcoal, and one and a half drachms of nitre; make into a firm paste with mulcilage of tragacanth and mould into small cones, which dry in the oven. There may be lighted to give a pleasant fresh odour to an apartment.

THE PRACTICAL USE OF FRUIT.

Laxatives.—It is a general belief that all fruits are laxative in their action upon the body. This is far from being the case. Oranges, figs, prunes, tamarinds, mulberries, dates, nectarines, and plums, are laxatives.

Astringents and Antilaxatives.—Pomegranates, cranberries, blackberries, raspberries, quinces, pears, wild cherries, medlars.

Diuretics.—(To increase the activity of the kidneys).—Grapes, peaches, strawberries, prickly pears, and black currants.

Refrigerants.—Gooseberries, red currants, white currants, melons.

Stomachic Sedatives.—Lemons, limes, apples.

JANUARY.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—There is not very much to be planted, but every care should be taken to keep the soil well cleansed from all kinds of weeds, so as never to allow them to seed. Ground not cropped must be broken up and kept clean. You can plant French beans, both dwarf and running, spinach, sweet corn, tomatoes, marrows, squashes, melon (water and rock), and pumpkins. It is useless to try to grow any other kind of vegetable, by reason of the heat, except in the colder districts. Sweet potatoes may be planted, and the beds dug, manured, and got ready to sow the first crop of cauliflower and cabbage.

FLOWER GARDEN.—The same precaution must be taken to keep the ground clean from weeds. Plants of roses, shrubs, etc., that have been grown in pots, may be planted out carefully, with a liberal supply of water. This month you can sow seeds of primula, pansies, cineraria, in well-prepared seed pans or boxes, well shaded. In the open, plant balsams, coxcombs, amaranthus, zinnia, coleus, helichrysum, marigold, etc. Keep your plants—such as carnations, bouvardias, dahlia, etc.—well staked. Coleus are now looking grand in their vast array of gorgeous color in hotter parts, in the open; in colder districts, of course, they will be in the bush house. Glass houses and bush houses should now be looking their best, with caladiums, begonias, gloxinia, etc. Re-pot and plant ferns in good bush soil; they require plenty of moisture, shade, and good drainage, also plenty of light, but not the hot sun. Charcoal is a splendid acquisition to the pot soil, for all kinds of ferns.

ORCHARD.—Care must be taken to keep the ground open, forked up, and free from weeds. Keep grape vines tied up so that the wind does not damage the foliage; remove all suckers and useless growth. Where the fruit on tree hangs too thick, thin them out.

FARM.—It is a busy time now, as several crops can go in for feed, such as panicum, sorghum, rye, cow peas, Kaffir corn, maize, etc. Before sowing these crops, well plough and prepare the ground. Lucerne may be sown, also paspalum dilitatum. This is the great dairying grass of the day. It is a grass that will stand dry or wet weather; grows on almost any soil, and gives an abundant crop. It soon spreads, as it sheds its seed very freely. The roots of this grass can be planted all the year round, or nearly so. Poverty Bay perennial rye grass. This is undoubtedly the best of this variety, as it grows stronger, and gives more fodder than any other.

FEBRUARY.

FLOWER GARDEN.—A great deal has to be done this month in preparing boxes for flower seeds, and the flower beds by cleansing from all weeds, manuring, and digging the ground. Of course, the time varies in different parts of the States as to sowing flower seeds. For instance, in Queensland you may commence in February, with the exception of the colder parts, such as the Downs, which will be somewhat later. But to ensure a good display of bloom, it is well to start early, provided you sow in seed boxes, and keep them shaded and well watered. Begin with phlox, candytuft, dianthus, carnations, antirrhinum, browallia, cornflower, globe amaranthus, scabiosa, mignonette, pansy, Canterbury bells, schizanthus, eschcholtzia, forget-me-not, lupins, marigold, larkspur, sweet pea, sweet sultan, marguerites, cineraria, petunia, gloxinia, and many others. When the plants are about two inches high, transfer them to the bed; if possible, in cloudy or showery weather. Thin out dahlias, and tie up; look over your roses, removing all unnecessary wood, cleansing bark from scale, digging between them, and well mulching with manure. Look over pot plants, stirring up and loosening the soil, and adding little bone dust, or watering with liquid manure.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—Dig up ground not cropped, and manure for the crop. You can make your first sowing of cauliflower, cabbage, celery, French beans, carrots, turnips, radish, lettuce, onion, beet root, mustard cress, kohl rabi, parsnips, peas, etc. Well mulch all ground where your melons, pumpkins, cucumbers, marrows, etc., are growing. This will keep the heat out the better, and invigorate the vines. If the weather be dry, give them a thorough watering; water well, for a sprinkling does more harm than good. Potatoes for first crop may now be got in. Look to your grape vines, and carefully tie up the required shoots. Any ground where you intend to plant fruit trees should be well dug and left for a time to sweeten; then dig in the manure, and be ready to plant trees later on.

FARM.—Ground should be prepared by deep ploughing. Sow lucerne, cape barley, tares, sorghums, Kaffir corn, setaria germanica, and any tropical fodder. Also plant paspalum dilitatum, either seeds or roots. Any farmer who has not tried this valuable fodder is advised to try it at once. It requires about ten pounds to the acre; or, better still, if you take, say, five pounds and five or six pounds of other grasses, mix and sow together. Care is to be taken in selecting good heavy seeds, as so much very inferior stuff is often offered, very little of which will grow. Good paspalum should weigh 130 pounds to the sack, but much is offered weighing only sixty to eighty pounds to the sack. Hence, you see, care must be taken when purchasing your seed.

MARCH.

FLOWER GARDEN.—Now we can sow a general variety of all kinds of flower seeds for the winter blooming. Snapdragon, calliopsis, galliardia, phlox, carnation, aster (though the aster grows and blooms in the winter, spring is the best time for planting, and better results are obtained), marigold, schizanthus, hunnamannia, eschscholtzia, marguerites, ranunculus, anemones, leptosyne, marvel of Peru, lupins, mignonette, candytuft, pansy, poppy (amongst poppies the Shirley is a very pretty delicate variety, but better still is the beautiful Iceland poppy), larkspur, forget-me-not (Cape and English), rhodanthe, acroclinium, lobelia, and many others. As said before, sow all seeds in boxes of soft, well-prepared soil. Shade with old newspaper or any thing suitable, but paper is the best. As soon as the seedings appear, take off the paper, and keep well moist in planting out. Do it carefully, taking as much soil with the roots as possible, and well water if there be no rain. All autumn flowering shrubs have a gay appearance now. Look over your garden walks and borders to keep weeds from seeding. Fork in the mulching, and keep the hoe going between plants. Edging and hedges should be clipped. Tie up and stake all plants needing it. Bulbs may now be put in—hyacinth, tulips, snowflakes, freesias, daffodils, anemone, sparaxis, iris, lilliums, alliums, jonquils, tritonias, narcissus, montcretia, scillas, tuberose, watsonia, etc.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—General crops can now be started. Sow cauliflower, cabbage, turnips, radish, lettuce, carrot, onion, peas, beet, broad beans, French beans, parsnips, kohl rabi, mustard cress, thyme, sage, marjoram, parsley, etc. Plant vegetables always in rows, about two feet from row to row; by so doing you can more easily use the hoe and keep weeds down. Do not sow too deep. Sow, also, silver beet, potatoes, Brussels sprouts. Don't sow your vegetable crop near your fruit trees.

ORCHARD.—Gently fork ground between the fruit trees (not deep, so as to disturb the roots). Ground not cropped as yet should be dug up, cleaned, and manured. Now is the time to transplant strawberries, such as Marguerite, Pink's Prolific, Trollope's Victoria, Federation, and do not forget a splendid strawberry, called "Foreman's." This is undoubtedly the most luscious fruit of them all—in fact, perfectly equal in flavour to any strawberry grown in the Old Country. The late Governor of Queensland (Lord Lamington) pronounced it equal to any he had ever eaten.

FARM.—Plough and clean land, sow your lucerne, rye, barley, tares, wheat, oats, prairie grass (an excellent grass); also plant swede turnips, mangold wurzel (not nearly enough of this valuable root food is planted in Queensland). Plant potatoes, large Belgian carrots, etc. In the North, go on planting sugarcane and tobacco. In warm districts, there is still time to get a crop of imphee and setaria germanica.

APRIL.

FLOWER GARDEN.—The rose, justly called the Queen of Flowers, is, on all kinds of soil, the most satisfactory of garden plants in Queensland. The month of April is the most suitable for the laying down of a rose garden. For the amateur gardener the most satisfactory method of growing roses is from either worked or rooted roses, such as are procurable at a small price from any florist. The first step should be the laying out of the rose bed. The bed should be well drained, with drain pipes if practicable, and should be trenched to a depth of 18 inches. On the arrival of the plants, if not in pots, they should be carefully unpacked in a shady place and water sprinkled over them. and then wrapped in a wet bag while being planted. Should the plants appear shrivelled, open a trench in the ground and lay them flat in the bottom ; cover them entirely (roots and branches), with six inches of soil and give them a good soaking with water. After allowing them to remain under ground for two or three days, dig them up and plant as directed. Plants in pots may be at once transferred to the ground and need less care. To plant the roses, dig holes about fifteen inches square, and sufficiently deep to bring the bud (i.e., lower branches) about one-and-a-half to two inches under the general level of the ground. Carefully separate and spread out the roots all round, giving them a downward tendency, then fill in about three inches of soil, and tread down as firmly as possible. Failure often occurs from loose planting. Fill in again with more soil, having the plant in a basin about two feet across and three inches deep, with a little mound of soil around the stem in the centre. Fill up this basin with stable manure, and give the plant about three gallons of water all over the manure mulching. Should the weather continue dry, water again in a week's time, and afterwards fortnightly, until the plants are established. Clean water should always be used to newly planted roses; soapy water will often prove fatal. Never manure the roots when planting, but mulching with manure round the roots has the effect of keeping the soil moist, preventing the ground caking and cracking, and allowing the water to soak in rapidly. After the roses have been planted for twelve months, they should be ready for pruning, which should be done as follows :—Begin by cutting out all dead and small or weak wood with a sharp knife. Afterwards cut back the shoots to a good eye. Should the plants have thrown up any strong new shoots during the summer (often misnamed water shoots) carefully preserve one or two of them, and if they are at all crowded out by old wood, cut the old wood clean away. Hybrid Perpetual roses require hard pruning; Tea roses light pruning; and Hybrid Teas a medium pruning. As regards the manuring of roses, horse manure is particularly suitable for incorporation with heavy or clay soils, and for mulching (it may be used fresh in both cases). Cow manure is more suitable for light, loamy, and sandy soils, but it should be allowed to rot in a heap for a month or two before being used. The following twenty roses will be found very suitable for the Queensland climate :—Comtesse de la Barthe, or Maiden Blush, Maman Cochet, White Maman Cochet, Marie Van Houtte, Kaiserin Augusta Victoria (climber), Madame de Watteville, Therese Levet, White Pearl, Madame Lambard, La France, Medea, Celine Forestier (climber), Lamarque (climber), Reine Marie Henriette (climber), Perle des Jardins (climber), Francesca Kruger, Christine de Noue, The Bride, Homer, Safrano, but there are many others being introduced annually which are just as suitable.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—Thin out all crops that are overcrowded. Plant out herbs, giving a little water as required. Sow peas, broad beans, radish, lettuce, mustard cress, tree and potato onions, or same as in March. Transplant cabbages, cauliflowers, and rhubarb.

FARM.—Same as May and June.

MAY.

FLOWER GARDEN.—Clean away all weeds and well fork up ground between rose bushes and shrubs already planted. Still continue to sow seeds of annuals for a good spring blooming, such as phlox, dianthus, carnations, snapdragon, linum, larkspur, echscholtzia, gaillardia, calliopsis, candytuft, mignonette, salpiglossis, summer chrysanthemum, cornflower, sweet pea, petunia, scabiosa, schizanthus, godetia, clarkia eleganis, and many other varieties. Pansy seed may still be sown. It is often asked, what can I plant for a border flower ? Here are a few—Pyrethrum (golden feather)—its beautiful bright yellow foliage lends an attraction to the flower garden ; lobelia, with its pretty green leaf and pale and dark blue flowers, give a beautiful effect ; sweet alyssium, a flower after the candytuft type, which gives a profusion of white flowers ; Virginian stock, with a great show of pink and white flowers, is very effective. For plants to flower in pots, there is the primula, cineraria, etc.; but one that is very little trouble, is the cupid sweet pea, in pink and white. It grows a few inches high. Plant several peas in a five or seven-inch pot, with good soil. Place the pot in the open, as the bushhouse tends to draw them up too weak. Keep them well watered, and we feel sure you will be pleased with the result. All pot plants should have the soil well stirred up round the plant and given a sprinkle of bone dust. Mix this well in with the soil ; it will invigorate the plant, and give a better colour to the foliage ; also to water with liquid manure is very beneficial, horse or cow manure will do, the latter being the best. Put the manure in a kerosine tin, or anything else suitable, and fill up with water ; use this about twice a week. Do not allow scale to accumulate on your roses, but dress them with Sibley's Scale Destroyer, obtained in bottles, and apply with paint brush. This will kill all scale without injury to the plant. Mildew is another pest that troubles the rose grower. Different remedies have been applied with success, such as dusting them over with flower of sulphur, early in morning, while the dew is on roses, then syringing them with emulsion. These are the ingredients for an emulsion—say half pound of soft soap, half pint kerosine, two gallons water, all well mixed, stir well each time before using, and apply with syringe. Sometimes it is as well to cut the rose back, and let it start afresh.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—Still sow for succession, cabbage, turnip, radish, lettuce, parsnips, onion, beet root, spinach, celery, peas (also beans, if secure from frost), and leeks. There is one vegetable not much grown, because it is not much known—the silver beet. This plant is a special boon to those living on stations or in the bush, because it is easy of cultivation, and gives abundance of vegetables. It is not grown for the root, but for its leaves, which, when cooked, equals cabbage or spinach. Do not pull up the plant, but take off the leaves, and others will shoot up. Strip off all the green and cook like cabbage or spinach. The thick middle ribs can be cooked like asparagus. We strongly advise planting all vegetables in rows ; you can walk then between the drills and weed without walking on your plants, and the garden looks much the neater.

ORCHARD.—This is the great month for planting fruit trees, also grape vines.

FARM.—Well dig and manure ground for the potato crop in the Northern Territory. Sow all cereals, tares, beans, peas, grass seeds, clovers, lucerne, sanfoin, rape, cabbage, and carrot. Cow peas may be sown for green manure.

JUNE.

FLOWER GARDEN.—The time has fully come to plant the Queen of Flowers—the rose—as spoken of in April. Those who wish to have a splendid show of beautiful blooms must lose no time in selecting strong good plants of ever-blooming roses. Plant in good stiff soil, and give a good heavy mulching of well-rolled manure, and a rich reward of bloom will follow. The flower garden demands special attention at this time. Thoroughly clean all the flower beds from weeds, well dig and manure. Sow annuals of most kinds, such as phlox, carnation, antirrhinum, dianthus, everlastings, lupins, candytuft, mignonette, marigold, pansy, cornflour, calliopsis, gaillardia, sweet pea, larkspur, salpiglossis, leptosyne, linaria, nerembergia gracilis, schizanthus, marguerites, etc. All bulbs should be at once planted, such as daffodils, narcissus, freesias, ixias, tritonia, watsonia, babiana, gladioli, etc.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—Much work has to be done. The ground well dug and manured, and thoroughly cleaned from all weeds. Sow cabbage for succession. For home consumption we thoroughly recommend Express and Winmingstadt. These give early conical heads of delicious flavour. For successive crops sow All Head, Flat Dutch, St. John Day, Succession, and World's Wonder. The latter is the best grown cabbage in America. Too much care cannot be taken to have them well dug, and well-manured soil. Plant savoy, turnip, carrot, parsnip, radish, lettuce, beet, onion, kohl rabi, swede turnip, parsley, peas, and—where free from frost—French beans. Broad beans may still be sown, also mustard cress and endive for salad. Amongst lettuce, we would advise to plant mammoth butterhead—a lettuce of enormous head and beautiful flavour; icebergs and ice are beautiful crisp lettuces; also Wonderful, Paision, Hansen, etc. Amongst radishes, the Icicle stands first for a long one. It has long white clear roots, of great tenderness, entirely free from the tough stringiness of the other varieties.

ORCHARD.—Fruit trees should be got in, of nearly all varieties, so as to let them get a good root hold, ready for spring growth. All varieties of shade and ornamental trees should be planted without loss of time.

FARM.—You can sow lucerne, oats, wheat, rye, barley, tares, and other fodder grasses—such as cocksfoot, which withstands dry weather, thrives under shade trees, and will grow on very poor soil. Prairie grass makes a splendid fodder, and is always fairly cheap and plentiful. It grows well through the winter and spring, produces good milk, and is fattening for stock. Poverty Bay perennial rye grass cannot be too highly spoken of, as it stands a hot, dry, climate and lasts for years. We would strongly urge farmers to give this grass a trial. Also plant paspalum dilitatum, without doubt one of the most valuable grasses ever introduced in this State. When sown in autumn, it is well to sow, say, from four to six pounds to the acre, mixed with other grasses.

JULY.

FLOWER GARDEN.—Keep all weeds down and well fork up between roses and trees already planted. The addition of manure mulching will well repay you. Sow flower seeds for spring and early summer flowering, such as snapdragon, phlox, gaillardia, calliopsis, candytuft, scarlet flax, lupins, mignonette, sweet pea, poppy, marigold—English, French, and African — summer chrysanthemums, scabiosa, sweet sultan, scabious, cornflower, carnation, clarkia, eschscholtzia—white and yellow—forget-me-not, marvel of Peru, malope, rhodanthe, acroclinium, globe amaranthus, pyrethrum stocks, Virginian stock, lobelia, nasturtium, Swan River daisy, browallia elata, Canterbury bells, columbine, mauranda (creeper), cobea scandeus (creeper), thumbergia (creeper), love-in-a-mist, nemophila, petunia, pentstemon, canary creeper, etc. For a sure return for your labour, we strongly advise all seeds to be planted in seed boxes. This little trouble will ensure you a splendid lot of plants, of course, always providing your seeds are fresh and good. Still plant roses and flowering shrubs. For a small garden there are a dozen good roses that will give you flowers nearly all the year round. Triomph de Pernet Pere (red), Kaiserin Augusta Victoria (white with lemon centre), Marie Van Houte (white edged pink), Mamon Cochet (pink), Mamon Cochet (white), Perle des Jardins (yellow), Francois Dubreuil (velvet crimson), Madame de Watteville (salmon-pink bordered rose), Souv. de la Malmaison (flesh colour), Vick's Caprice (bright pink, marbled white), Niphetos (pure white), Christine de Noue (deep purplish red). These are twelve really good roses ; of course there are many more. Now for three or four good climbers—Marechal Neil (deep yellow), climbing Kaiserin Victoria (creamy white), climbing Meteor (deep crimson), climbing Malmaison (fresh color), James Sprunt (black red), La Marque (white), Reine Marie Henrietta (bright red). For a small garden these will make bloom all the year round—that is, with proper attention. Close cut back all old roses that show no signs of flowering. Do not be afraid of cutting and thinning out ; they will soon make a fresh start, and give increased bloom later on.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—Keep on planting, for successive crops, cabbage, turnip, radish, beet root, parsnip, onion, leek, silver beet, peas, French beans (if free from frost), carrot, spinach, endive, salsify. Start sowing cucumber, vegetable marrow, tomato. By the way, some of the best tomatoes we can recommend are the American stone, Duke of York, Ignotim, Acme, Mikado, Optimus, Trucker's favourite, Dwarf Champion, and Chalk's Early Jewel. Of small varieties, King Humbert (peach, plum, cherry), and semper fructefera (enormously productive), scarlet pear shaped.

FARM.—Get your ground ready for potato crop and plant. Also for melons—new ground if possible. Plant your grape vines.

AUGUST.

FLOWER GARDEN.—Now is the time to commence sowing summer annuals—coxcomb, zinnias, portulaca, helichrysum, balsam, nasturtium, and most of those named in last month. Portulaca is very pretty either for a border or to plant in whole beds; the colours are brilliant, and will keep on flowering till next autumn. The double variety, though more expensive, is very handsome. In zinnias, the new giant gives fine large double blooms. Balsams of any variety are very gorgeous, but the best of all is the camellia flowering variety, bearing flowers of unique colors almost as large as roses. Sow asters of all kinds now. They will give a good summer show. There is still time to plant roses, shrubs, and shade trees. Do not neglect your pot plants. Re-pot where necessary, and those you do not re-pot, well stir up the soil round the plant and add a little bone dust. This will start them off for the spring growth.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—Sow carrots, turnips, radish, lettuce, French beans, beetroot, spinach, mustard and cress, etc. Now is the time for cucumbers. There are many splendid varieties for general crop—long green Athens, long green English prickly, Parisian, long ridge or white giant. Amongst other varieties are the Goliath, Telegraph, Swan's Neck (thirty inches long), Duke of Edinburgh, Glory of Erfurt (white), Noa's Forcing, Present Wonder, etc. Plant marrows and squashes of all kinds. One special squash of beautiful appearance and finest flavour is Charles Naudin, a pretty round variety motted green and yellow. It is little known. Plant pumpkins. Good table varieties are Japanese, large and small Button, Crown, and Ironbark. Make your first sowing of water and rock melons. Melons are numerous in variety, but it will not be amiss to name a few good ones that have been well tried. First, Dixie is a beautiful water or sugar melon, attaining a great size. Then Kolb's Gem, Cuban Queen, Black Spanish, the Boss, Duke Jones, Sweetheart, are all of first rate quality. Among rock melons, the following are a few of the best:—Californian, Large Nutmeg, Skillman's Netted, Montreal, Green Nutmeg, Banquet. This latter is good, being perfectly round, not ribbed, but densely netted. New ground is always best for melons. Anyhow, in planting, use plenty well-rotted cow manure. Plant potatoes of all kinds now. Mushroom spawn can be planted now in some corner of a warm shed or in the open air later on. Instructions as to planting and growing mushrooms from spawn will be fully answered by letter on application to writer. Plant grapes now and sow sweet corn. Indian fruit or Cookra may be carefully planted. This is a cucumber shaped fruit, of white or yellow colour, highly aromatic, resembling a rock melon, and is very delicious.

SEPTEMBER.

FLOWER GARDEN.—This month sow, as in last month, for summer blooming, zinnias, portulaca, helichrysum (a various colored everlasting flower), balsam, petunia, phlox, dianthus, snapdragon, aster. All roses planted now must be from pots, so as not to disturb the young growth at roots. Mangoes and camphor laurels may be planted, in fact, all kinds of shrubs can go in, provided they are from pots. Complete all pruning, dig up flower beds and borders, keep walks clear from weeds. Where the lawn is impaired sprinkle some seed of lawn grasses or couch; cover and water. This will cover bare patches. Plant verbenas, hollyhocks, gladiola bulbs, tuberose, amaryllis, etc. Chrysantheumums, for show purposes, should be got in now. Don't forget to re-pot plants in the bush house, and add a little bone dust. This will help them on to maturity. All plants, such as trees and roses, will require attention as to watering, as the west winds are very trying even in this month. A good mulching of old manure is a good thing to keep the dry weather out and the moisture in.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—Asparagus bed requires a deal of water. Sow nearly all vegetables, such as carrot, turnip, beet, radish, lettuce, marrow, cucumber, pumpkin, squashes, etc. Sow cabbage, St. John's Day. The fly is troublesome, but I have had great success in growing cabbage of late where I never could before, on account of the grub. This is what I did—I keep a good few fowls, and as soon as I have a brood off, I put the hen in a coop, and keep her there, well feeding her, and place the coop in my vegetable garden. The little chicks, I can safely say, cleared off every grub. They were constantly under the cabbage picking up the minutest grub. You may depend upon it, they are very useful in the garden for the first month, after that, of course, they get too big, and must go in the fowl yard, but up to a month old they do little damage. All climbing beans may now be planted; also Lima beans (both dwarf and climbing), the zebra runner or Neapolitan runner is a beautiful bean, and very prolific.

FARM AND ORCHARD.—All recently planted fruit trees, in the absence of rain, will require watering. There is still time to plant oranges and lemons. Remove all suckers from grapes and all branches or shoots not required. Pineapple suckers and bananas may be planted, also passion fruit, granadillas, paw paws, custard apples, guavas, etc. Ginger should be planted, also arrowroot, sweet potatoes, yams, maize, tobacco, cow peas, imphee, sorghum, panicum, Kaffir corn, etc. Potatoes must now be finally planted, and earth up those already growing.

OCTOBER.

FLOWER GARDEN.—All dahlias should now be planted. There are many very beautiful varieties of this showy flower. The double cactus dahlia is occupying a very important place amongst the class, of which there are many very beautiful kinds. It will not be amiss here to mention a dozen splendid cactus varieties—Connell's Crest (richest of the cherry red section), Captain Dreyfus (dark velvety maroon), Delicata (soft black), Dr. Nansen (bright scarlet), Empress of India (rich maroon crimson, very dark), Henry Patrick (white), Jealousy (dark yellow), Lord Roberts (the grandest white), Midnight Sun (intense crimson), Mrs. E. Connell (clear yellow, shaded red), Robert Connell, Magenta, the Czar, the Queen. The chief work to do, is to well attend to things that are flowering, by gently stirring up between plants, and raking over, keeping off all weeds in flower beds and in paths, keep grass well cut, and hedges well trimmed. Fruit trees, as mentioned in last month, may be planted from pots. Watch the bush house, doing any re-potting required, and potting off caladium, feeding pot plants with liquid manure. Look to your roses and keep them clear from scale and mildew by using remedies already mentioned. Those showy plants, the coleus, are so easily grown from slips, and give such a blaze of tropical beauty, that really no one should be without them. They do in greenhouse, bushes, verandahs, and they colour beautifully in a shady nook of your garden. The caladiums are a beautiful showy class of plants, but out of glass they do not color so well nor last too long.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—It is a matter of keeping the things growing already planted by keeping them clean and watered, if necessary. You may sow Lima beans, butter beans, French beans, snake beans, Madagascar beans, mustard and cress, rosella, lettuce, eschalots, cucumbers, marrows, squashes, as advised last month. A very useful cucumber is the Japanese climbing. It runs up sticks, like beans, and bears a beautiful eating cucumber about six inches long, more or less. Amongst choice cucumbers, are Rollison, Telegraph, Goliath, Present Wonder, Swan's Neck, Marquis of Lorne, Duke of Edinburgh, etc. Parsley can be planted.

FARM.—Plant as last month, lucerne, panicum, imphee, sorghum, tares, maize, sweet potato cuttings, Kaffir corn, yam, ginger, and arrowroot. Keep clean all growing crops. So much depends on keeping free from weeds, therefore never let them seed. The cow pea does well, and produces large crops of first-class fodder in dry seasons, and stock of every kind are very fond of it, and it is very valuable as a green manure. Poor worn out land cannot be better renovated. For green manure, 30 to 50 pounds should be sown to the acre, and ploughed in just as the seed pods are forming. For this purpose, it should be sown in early summer. There is the white cow pea, clay-coloured, black, and whip-poor-Will speckled liver color. All are good.

NOVEMBER.

FLOWER GARDEN.—Not much planting to be done this month and next; the idea is to look after those now growing. Dahlias may still be planted. Bulbs have mostly done flowering now, and are fairly ripe. These should be taken up, and stored away in a dry place for the time being, but it is just as well to look them over now and then, and pick out bad ones. A few zinnias and balsams can be planted, and sunflowers. Speaking of sunflowers, there is one variety called Stella, which we would certainly recommend to grow in preference to the baby sunflower. It is a little flower somewhat larger and better for cutting, single of course. There are two shades of this, yellow and sulphur yellow, and there is a very pretty double one called Soliel, of sulphur yellow, very pale. Hoe all your beds, loosen the soil, all mulching, clean scale off roses, tie up plants, get weeds off the paths and beds, water well in the evening—not in the morning, as the sun dries it up too quickly—but by watering in evening the plants get the benefit of it all night. Take care of your pot plants by stirring up soil and giving them liquid manure or bone dust.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—Keep ground well cleaned up from weeds. If your melons, cucumbers, etc., are too thick, thin out. There is nothing gained by having things too thick, but rather a loss. Keep cucumbers and melons well watered. Peg down the runners, so as not to let the wind below them about. You can sow French beans, Tom Thumb lettuce, radish, Early Horn carrot, rosella, eschalot, pumpkins, and plant out (in dull weather, if possible), rosella plants. When good fruit is required on plums and peaches, thin out the fruit. Take away all suckers from trees and grapes. A very nice pumpkin, entirely new variety, was on show at the Exhibition this year, called Silver Nugget. This is small, round, and silvery white, a very important acquisition to a garden, as it is very awkward to have to cut up a large pumpkin, as the part left soon goes bad, but here is one you can for a cooking use the whole pumpkin. There is also another variety of climbing bean coming into notice. This is called the Cluster Pea Bean. It grows to a great height if allowed to grow, or you can let it grow to any required height, and pinch off the top. It grows with a very small fine foliage, a thin stem, and bears clusters of beans the size of a pea pod, in fact, it looks like peas. These you shell and cook after the same manner as peas. It bears clusters of beans from the ground up to the very top.

FARM.—Not much is to be done, except constant attention to growing crops, and planting panicum, sorghum, etc., as last month. Sweet potato cuttings can be taken and planted about three feet apart in the row, and eighteen inches from plant to plant, taking about twelve thousand to the acre.

DECEMBER.

FLOWER GARDEN.—Now is about the hottest time of the year, and great care has to be taken with all plants in the flower garden. In the absence of rain, freely water, but always in the evening. Keep the grass lawn well cut, and destroy all weeds, lightly hoe flower bed between the plants, and freely apply any mulching. Cut back roses showing no bloom, and a fresh start will soon be made. Stake the plants that lie straggling on ground. Watch the dahlias, thin out where needed, and make stakes thin. Little can be done this month in sowing seeds.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.—You can plant beans, cucumbers, and squashes still, and don't let the fruit of these hang on the vines longer than necessary, as they weaken the vines. The first sowing of cauliflower and cabbage can be made in a cool shady place, and, if possible, well syringe the young plants. It tends to keep the fly off. As each piece of ground becomes vacant, turn it over, clean it, manure it, and, if possible, dig in some lime or salt, and prepare it for crops to be sown a little later on. Plant lettuce still. The Tom Thumb variety is the best now. Sow in thinly in rows, so that there will be no need to transplant. Sow New Zealand spinach, okra, snake beans, and sweet corn. For those who go in for a mushroom bed, it is a good time to put it down, and a method that has proved very successful to myself will not be out of place to mention here. Get a load of horse manure that has no bedding of any kind with it, such as sawdust, shavings, or otherwise, and that has been washed by rain. Put this in a dark corner of your garden, or in a corner of shed—a small plot of about three yards square is plenty. Put a piece of board round the manure to keep it up from spreading about. Stamp this manure very firmly down, add about three inches of nice light bush soil to the top, water it well. In two or three days it will heat, then break up a brick of mushroom spawn in little lumps, and plant down in this, again water, and cover over lightly with straw, hay, or grass. If the spawn is good, it will soon run through the manure, and appear above ground. Once imphee, sorghum, panicum, and sweet potatoes. Dig up the crop of English potatoes as soon as ready. They will not keep in the hot ground, and do not let them lie in the sun after digging. Ground the potatoes grew on should be deeply dug, heavily manured, and either dig in salt, lime, or soot. Let it lie for a time, then turn it over again, and get it in good order—the salt, soot, or lime will go a long way towards destroying the grubs that play such havoc with cabbage and cauliflower beds. When the ground has been so treated, it will be in splendid condition to receive the first crop of cabbage and cauliflower plants. We would like to advise you to try a cauliflower called the Primus. It does not grow so tall as the Asiatic, bears a very large white head, and is earlier than the old Asiatic.

PRACTICAL FARMING.

HINTS TO BEGINNERS.

By A. W. Bowder.

The idea that any one who lives upon a farm thereby becomes a farmer has cost many dearly, for as in every other profession, the person who engages therein without due preparation does so to his own undoing, and with very little benefit to the community at large. In Queensland, with its millions of acres, various causes operate to cause agriculture to progress very slowly. Land can be easily acquired, on easy terms compared with European countries, and crops of some kind can be grown at all seasons of the year. These two facts, combined with the uncertainty of permanent employment in the Public Service and the continuous oversupply of recruits to the ranks of the various professions and trades, have driven on to the soil many who have had no previous acquaintance with its treatment. An idea is current, also, that because a lad has gone through three or four years' training at an agricultural college he must of necessity be a farmer, but though the class education in theory may be very beneficial, his experience of outside work, most practically the only real test, commences when, instead of being supplied with every requisite implement, and that of the best, the student has without assistance to initiate and carry to a profitable result a scheme of farming not only suited to the district in which he has settled, but also to his financial position.

THE PRACTICAL FARMER.

What, then, is a practical farmer? He is a man who, with the least outlay of capital and labour, can produce the best results from a given area of land. It is with the object of throwing out hints in this direction, for the benefit of men new to the cult, that this article is written. The farmer, to begin with the actor himself, if he is to be a success, must be a man of faith and purpose, with no small stock of patience and energy (for these qualities are in constant demand) to be in daily exercise. If in combination with these requirements he is in love with his calling, there need be little fear as to the final result. The next thing is the selection of a farm, and in this matter but few make a wise choice, consequently soon sell out, or become dissatisfied. As there are few farms that reach the ideal, the following may be taken as the main factors in aiding the selection of land for general farming purposes:—The soil is an important thing, and should be considered in connection with the crops intended to be raised. The soil best adapted to cultivation should as nearly as possible be made up of sand (silicious and calcareous) 50 parts; clay, 30 parts; pulverised limestone, 10 parts; and humus, 10 parts. This mixture would form a good bodied loam, the nearest approach being our alluvial river flats. Such land is known by the deep green colour of the plants growing thereon, the foliage being always of a lighter colour as the soil becomes more retentive or of poorer quality. Water on or near the property is indispensable, and the best aspect is a gentle slope to the east, thus gaining the morning sun, and escaping the worst effects of westerly winds. Points often overlooked are the question of access, the ease or difficulty in removing the produce from, or bringing requisites to the farm, the time and expense involved being a charge in perpetuity. It is therefore cheaper, in the long run, to give a higher price in the first instance for land within easy reach of railway or water carriage, or to a market for the produce purposed to be grown, than to incur the perpetual charge incident to bringing produce some miles before it can be disposed of. People living on land within easy approach of a railway station are in the best position to take advantage of the best prices ruling, such as are consequent upon a short supply caused by the inability of the majority to traverse the roads during a spell of wet weather. Another thing not taken into proper consideration is the prevalence or otherwise of destructive vermin, insects, and other pests. These pests in the aggregate cause more loss of money and temper than the longest drought or most destructive flood. The drought or flood at the most is but periodical, but the pests are ever at work, destroying or reducing the value of crops, and like hope deferred making the heart sick. Disappointed time after time, the would-be farmer loses heart, and gives up the struggle. It may also be as well to advise a beginner in a district to discover how far local demands are supplied by the products of the neighbourhood, so that he may, as far as possible, provide the things that are brought from a distant market, and avoid raising produce that is a glut in the local market

The practical farmer before selecting his land should decide upon the class of farming to which he intends to devote himself, whether to the growth of one staple crop, or the breeding, raising, or feeding of one particular kind of stock; to dairying and pigs, or to fruit culture. If the former, such as sugarcane, cotton, sisal hemp, coffee, wheat, barley, etc., the district suitable for such crop must have consideration, and the facilities for crushing, ginning, etc., be at hand; otherwise, no matter how good the land, there is little hope of success if, after the crop is grown, it cannot be dealt with by the necessary machinery. Mixed or general farming is a far more profitable occupation, and, in the long run, far more reliable than the dependence placed by so many on any particular class of farming, often because on paper that particular class shows a profit of so much per acre. Take sisal hemp, for instance, at £35 per ton of fibre, with maize at £4 and potatoes at £4 per ton. The former is not harvested till four years after planting, while a crop each of the latter is taken each year, say one ton maize and two tons of potatoes, or £12 per acre each year. The returns are quicker, the risks less, because the crops and prices usually correct each other—short crops and long prices, or abundant crops with low prices. The farmer on open country will need more capital than will his confrere in the coastal scrub and forest districts, while the latter must of necessity operate more slowly, and will have plenty of scope for the exercise of his patience and energy. The coastal farmer has the preference, in the writer's opinion, on account of the climatic conditions being more reliable, and returns consequently more certain, though on the Darling Downs, for instance, much could be done to conserve both food and water in times of plenty for use in seasons of shortage, and the man who does most in these matters will find the day will surely come when he will be in comfort and content while his thoughtless neighbour is in need.

DAIRY FARMING.

At present dairy farms are most in demand, or land that is deemed suitable for dairying; but again a word of warning is needed to the beginner, who is apt to think, when reading of certain farmers receiving cheques for £20 to £30 per month from the cream supplied to the factory from twenty cows, that the dairy outlook is very encouraging, but who forgets that to keep this amount the same all the year round, there must be a relay of at least an equal number of cows to take the place of those that are going dry for next calving, and at the very least half a score young heifers coming on to take the place of aged and worthless animals. So, instead, of this cheque of £20 to £30 being the monthly return from twenty cows, it should be credited to forty at the least; and to keep forty to fifty cows profitably means growing large supplies of oats, lucerne, or other food to supplement the natural grasses. These adjuncts are necessary, even with good paddocks of paspalum dilatatum. The dairy farmer will therefore find it immensely to his benefit to adopt a system of mixed farming. Suppose one farmer devotes fifty acres to dairy farming and divides it into two paddocks planted with paspalum, and another farmer devotes the same area of land of equal quality to the same purpose, but divides it into three paddocks, one of twenty-five acres planted with paspalum, one of ten acres with lucerne, and the third of fifteen acres with plots of oats, maize, pumpkins, and drumhead cabbage in succession. It will be found that the latter farm will feed one-third more stock than the former, and, in addition, would keep the stock in better health and condition. Another splendid food for dairy cattle is the English potato, either sliced and mixed with chaff or boiled and mixed with bran, brewers' grains or malt culms, so that an acre or two of the tuber is never found amiss by the dairy farmer. The same principle holds good with the cane or cotton farmer, for with a system of mixed cropping, the work of the farm can be so arranged that occupation is found for the whole year, and by judicious sowing and planting there is always something ready for sending to market. If one crop fails, another will be found to be over the average, and at the end of the year the balance is invariably in favour of the mixed crops.

THE BEST ROUTINE.

The country is so extensive and diversified that it its almost impossible to give a minute description of the best routine applicable to all districts, but as far as possible crops of as diverse a nature as possible should follow each other in succession on the same piece of ground. The crops should, however, be sown or planted in such a manner that they are available for marketing at the earliest possible time, for it is the mid season crop (especially of a perishable nature) that has to meet the keenest competition, and, as a rule, the worst price. When ground is once in a condition that it can be ploughed, it should be kept at work growing something profitable. On the coastal lands, maize and English potatoes are a good succession; the former, planted in late July, or early August, will be fit for harvest early in the following February. The ground can then be cleared and planted in early March, with potatoes which should be ready for taking up in June, and will leave the land in fine condition for again planting with early maize. Another plot should be treated the reverse way; potatoes of two varieties (or, still better, three) planted as early as possible in August on ground from which, in May or June, maize has been taken, will be found ready for market in November, and will leave the ground in clean, and admirable condition for a crop of late maize and pumpkins. If winter feed for cattle is needed the February picked maize can be profitably followed by mangolds, swede, turnips, or cabbage; or the land from which late maize and pumpkins have been cleared, as soon as the fruit has cut down the vines, can be sown with oats for making hay in October following. The farmer who adopts a system of this kind of cultivation, with four or five good cows, the same number of sows, and their progeny, along with the ever useful poultry (the most profitable scavengers of a well-ordered farm), would have but little time or cause to grumble. The same principle applies to the farmers on the Downs, though, of course, where wheat or barley forms the staple crop a system of rotation should be selected in accord as the chief adjunct to the staple crop. If it be lamb-raising or dairying, or any other subject, the main thing to keep in view is to so diversify the cropping that the land and the labour employed thereon are profitably occupied during the whole year. If lamb-raising or dairying be the staple industry to be taken up, there should always be two paddocks of permanent artificial or good natural grass on which to depasture the herd or flock, the cultivated portion of the farm being worked for the benefit of the stock. The end in view is, of course, a constant supply of the most nutritious and palatable food. Care and judgment must be exercised so that there is not an excess at one period and scarcity at another, for nothing is so detrimental to stock of all kinds as irregularity in their food supply whether in quantity or quality. One thing cannot be too strongly impressed upon the would-be farmer—namely, that in whatever branch of farming he determines to devote himself to there must be method, METHOD, METHOD; for the man of method is the man of success. It is just as necessary for the farmer to work according to plan, as for the builder. What sort of a house will the latter build if he has no plans to consult? The larger his building the more higgledy-piggledy mess it will become, and his foolishness become more apparent as the building progresses. Yet it is no less foolish for a man to seek to build up a farm without having carefully considered his plan. He having done so and listened to wise suggestions and benefitted by the experience of others, he should have a care that his plan is not spoiled by too many alterations.

A NOTE OF WARNING.

Another thing, which is a source of danger to the beginner, may here be mentioned—that is, the way in which many persons strive to carry into practice the theories and experiments they see described in agricultural journals. They forget that both theories and experiments are formulated merely to give the ideas of the writer or to prove the value or otherwise of the effect of certain kinds of food used in combination or alone, or to show the value of certain kinds of manure (artificial or natural) used in relation to certain crops, or to point out the effect of different methods of cultivation as applied to the same crops under the same or differing climatic conditions. In reading these experimental reports, or the plausible conclusion arrived at by the theoretic farmer, too many beginners in Nature's great academy overlook the real teaching conveyed to the practical experienced mind through these things, and seeing the outcome of the experiment successful, or the conclusion of the theorist profitable, and apparently easy to follow out, are beguiled into essaying on a larger scale the same thing. Speaking, first, of the experiments carried on by scientists, the reader of these reports would do well to remember that each experiment has for its object the discovery or proving of certain facts, and its success or failure often extends over lengthened periods, and occupies the undivided attention of those engaged therein. As a rule, experiments are expensive, and but rarely profitable, to those engaged therein, and it is only by the wise application of scientific discoveries to every day practice in the routine of farm work that the general community, especially the farming community, receive the full benefit. In every district, even in our sparsely-populated State, there is to be found at least one man that studies the economy of the farm carefully, and in a practical manner utilises the kernel contained in each experiment, instead of acting in an uncertain "don't know" kind of way. Do not be afraid to ask the why and wherefore of the operations of such a man, the more practical he is, the more sure are you to obtain advice, and that sound. There is no discredit attaching to a man without experience for not knowing a thing or how to perform an operation on the farm. Simplicity and foolishness are manifested in his professing to know that which his actions prove him to be ignorant of. Turning to the theoretic side of the question, or what may be termed paper farming, let whoever will follow this system into practice, he invariably comes to a point in his operation that has quite been overlooked by the enunciator of the theory. It has been the writer's experience during the past four decades that the men who can talk farming by the acre, sell their produce by the hundredweight, while the man of experience and practice sells his produce by the ton, and confesses he is not ashamed to farm by the yard. Let the new chum farmer, therefore, be always ready to read the ideas brought forth by others, but careful as to how far he seeks to reduce them to practice. If there is any real benefit to be derived, he may be assured that his more experienced neighbour will not be slow to avail himself of it. If, however, he comes to the conclusion that it is prejudice against a new method or invention which prevents its adoption, he should move slowly, being careful not to involve himself in too much expense in the hope of obtaining a theoretic gain. Before leaving this subject, a few words in another direction may not come amiss by way of comment on facts that have come under the writer's observation and which have proved a great hindrance and loss to many and in more than one instance have proved the real cause of failure. There is always a danger, even to the most experienced man, of buying implements or instruments because in themselves they are labour-saving. Seeing a neighbour using an article which he (the neighbour) needs more or less constantly, a farmer is tempted into purchasing something he could with a little manœuvring have managed very well without. To cite one case, a man had a few acres of lucerne and during the first season mowed with scythes, and bought a horse chaff gear machine for about £30. The next season a grass mower and horse rake, costing another £30 or so were bought. The following season the greater part of the lucerne was ploughed out, and sixty pounds of almost useless machinery, from which he had not received ten pounds worth of benefit, was left on his hands. The better way is certainly to buy as few implements as possible until they are certain to find regular use, each in its season. It is more economical to hire implements from a neighbour whose land is in a more forward state of cultivation. Without carrying the thing to excess, adopt the principle of spending only when economy demands. Rather have a few pounds in reserve to meet any mischance than be short of cash, whilst there is an over-supply of idle implements. Putting this matter in another way—a breeding sow or a cow in profit, or the two combined, in a few months return to the purchaser the initial cost, and go on profitably producing, and do their little part to help their owner; whereas a piece of machinery, costing as much money, begins to deteriorate from the day of purchase, often more by lying idle than by use. Also, in case of emergency, there is always a sale for the live stock at fair market value, whilst machinery is difficult to turn into money even at a serious loss.

SCRUB CLEARING AND HOUSE BUILDING.

On a scrub selection the first question to be settled is falling the timber and removing the undergrowth, and in this matter a man's ability to do the work himself or to pay others to do it must, in some measure, guide his action. If the latter (which is the better) course is pursued, the settler is free to attend to the building of his house or preparing fencing material. In the house-building operations it is not advisable to sink too much cash. Let the farmer determine to make the land pay for all super-fluities, while he is content to accomplish necessities out of the money he starts with. May or June are the best months to commence to clear the coastal districts, as scrub-felled then is available for firing (according to weather conditions) any time after August. A small area could be cleared of all but the heaviest timber and planted with cane, if in a cane district, or the whole piece planted with corn. Another plot could be cut down in September, burnt off in December, and planted with late corn. A danger to be avoided is in taking too much in hand at one time, for the scrub while standing is almost free from weed growth, yet if felled and left any length of time uncropped it becomes infested with all kinds of weeds which seed, and thus for future years make work that by careful management might have been avoided. On the Downs it is better to start two or three months earlier.

There the fencing and the house-building should be the first operations, care being taken to put in a few vegetables in late February or early March, and then a good breadth of land prepared for wheat, ready to seed in May or June as climatic conditions, favourable or otherwise, prevail. This should be followed with an area for barley, if this cereal is to be grown. Then the ground for lucerne should be well-cleared and sown in July after rain, so that the seed will germinate quickly and evenly. If a small seed drill is used in this operation a much more even crop will be the result. Then comes the ground for an early crop of maize and potatoes. By following this line the work is distributed throughout the winter months in preparation and seeding, and the harvesting operations will be found to follow in succession, allowing, of course, for the changing vagaries of climatic conditions and their varying effects on the crops.

The foregoing plan is made on the assumption that the natural grasses are sufficient to carry the stock intended to be purchased till such time as the grasses can be supplemented by lucerne, or a plot of oats before the wheat, if the farmer's intention is to stock fairly, or to make chaff an article of sale. By sowing oats early the farmer would be able to use them with his first-cut lucerne, either as change of food for stock, or to sell in the form of mixed chaff, or he could stack either for future use or sale. Some of these latter remarks may appear in the form of repetition of what has been before written earlier in this paper, but if such is the case it is to more strongly emphasize the importance the writer attaches to their finding a place in the thoughts of the readers who desire to derive the meaning they are intended to convey. It is not possible in the course of so short an article to deal at length with all subjects of interest or even to include much that might be of profit.

SOME SIMPLE LAND TESTS.

A few hints as to a simple way in which soil suitable for agricultural purposes may be discerned without the aid of a soil augur or an analytical chemist would not be out of place here. It is usual in Queensland to hear soils spoken of by their colour, but the writer has seen soils of each of the favourite colours, red, chocolate, and black, both of the very best and very worst class, the red soils being subject to the greatest variation of texture and quality. A soil's texture can be told by walking over it. A dry, loose soil which shifts beneath the tread with no tendency to adhere to the boots will, if taken in the hand, filter through the spaces between your fingers, and if moistened with water will not show cohesive properties for any length of time. This class of soil, no matter the colour, is one that easily parches in a dry spell, and in a wet season loses much of its fertility through available plant food being washed beyond the reach of the growing plant. These disadvantages are easily noticeable by the sparseness and poverty of the soil's weed-growth, and in many cases by the immense timber of various kinds, whose roots are able to fix and take up the available plant food, and whose leaves have power of absorption of an immense amount of nitrogen from the air. To go to the other extreme, a stiff tenacious soil, when trod upon, retains the imprint of the foot, and if taken in the hand has a soft velvety touch, but if moisture is applied can be moulded like dough, and shows by its cohesive tenacity the very opposite characteristic to the other, being when well-tilled able to withstand a dry season, but being practically unworkable in a wet season. Between these two extremes we find great variations. The ideal soil, while not moving when trod upon, scarcely retains the imprint of the foot, and upon being handled when dry coheres for a short time, but after squeezing in the hand, and then held a few seconds again, falls to pieces. If the soil when moistened and pressed, and then held or laid in the sun bakes, then it is too clayey. If, on the other hand, it breaks up as it dries, you may rest assured that both soil and subsoil are just the right thing, and you need have no fear as to its good quality and adaptabilitty to profitable working. In selecting a soil for any special purpose, the native plant growth should by no means be overlooked, for the healthy, vigorous growth of plants of a similar nature to that intended to be cultivated, will give a fair indication of what may be expected as a result of intelligent and careful cultivation.

CULTIVATION.

Having secured a soil as nearly as possible approaching the ideal and decided upon the use to which it is intended to put it, there are general rules of cultivation that are applicable to all climates. The ploughing or breaking up process on new land should be shallow the first time over. By this means the roots of the plants are severed from the stem and leaves in such a manner that the latter, especially couch and kindred grasses, are more quickly detached from the soil adhering to them and more effectually dealt with in the process of harrowing than when ploughed out more deeply. When this growth is killed by exposure to sun and air, the land should be ploughed under, as in light soils it assists in the retention of moisture, and in heavier soils it assists in the prevention of too much cohesion or baking. Opinions are much divided amongst the most practical farmers as to the most satisfactory depth to plough land for different crops. Experience leads the writer to conclude that the depth should vary with the richness or poverty of the soil, in combination with the habit of the plant for which the ground is in course of preparation, and the subject is one to which no dogmatic rule can safely be applied. It may be noted, however, that if very fertile land is ploughed too deeply and a good growing season follows, the result will almost always be a phenomenal growth of stalk and leaf with misshapen and defective fruit or corn. In the case of cereals—such as wheat, barley, oats, or rye—on rich land stirred too deeply the evil result is seen in the lodging of the crop, and the shrunken appearance of the grain. In other words, plants on rich soils should be made to work a little to obtain a livlihood, as the exercise thus provided tends to increase their healthiness, and gives them more vigor in resisting disease. Poorer soils are benefitted by deeper ploughing, more nitration takes place, and thus not only is more plant food made available, but the capilarity is increased, and its drought-resisting power enlarged. Most plants thrive best on a stale furrow —that is, upon land ploughed some time before the intended crop is sown or planted, and where such land can be moved by the spring tooth or other harrows each time weed growth makes it appearance, the soil is reduced to a splendid tilth, and a fine consolidated seed bed is the result. Seed when placed in such a bed will germinate quickly and evenly, and will withstand many vicissitudes that would prove ruinous to the seed placed in a bed that had but recently been ploughed, and had not had time to settle, the many cavities in the soil proving death traps to the rootlets of the young and tender plant. Having planted the seed, or placed the plant in the best manner in a well-prepared piece of ground, the work is well begun, but if, as is too often the case, the young plant is left to attend to itself, the labour will have been to a certain extent in vain. The majority of men on the land with whom I have come in contact have formed the idea that a crop needs little attention after it is well above ground, or that weeds do but little damage after crops reach a certain stage. All cereals, as soon as they are no longer dependent upon the parent seed for support—that is when they are fully established on their own roots—should be harrowed with harrows sufficiently heavy to move the soil to the depth of an inch or so, and if the crop is too luxuriant in growth a cross-harrowing, or even two, will be found to benefit the crop, and check any weed growth. In such crops as maize, cane, or cotton, roots such as swedes or mangolds, as well as English potatoes, the more the soil is moved during the earlier stages of growth the more rapid will that growth be, and the more certain will a profitable result ensue.

In this manner much labour is also saved, for preventing weed becoming a nuisance is far easier and cheaper than eradicating when they have once become well-established. Moreover, this treatment will render the preparation of the ground for the next crop more easy of accomplishment, and will often enable the farmer to get the next crop in two or three weeks earlier than if the previous one had been neglected. But here a word of caution may be thrown out, for at certain times, in some crops, weeds are an absolute benefit. For instance in a crop of English potatoes (which will ripen up in the end of November or in December if kept clean during their growing period)—the weeds, if allowed to grow, say, from the middle of October will prevent the tubers from being sunburnt or scalded, and will be destroyed in the process of ploughing out the crop before they have done any harm by seeding.

The depth at which seeds should be sown, or of the soil by which they should be covered when sown, should be governed by two things—If sown to remain in the same place throughout their growth, they should be sown deeper than if sown in a seed bed from which they are later on to be transplanted to the place in which their final growth is to be made. The other thing to be considered is the state of the weather at the time the seed is sown, deeper in dry weather than when the soil is in a moist condition. Though no hard-and-fast rule can be applied, the general accepted principle is the smaller the seed, the shallower it should be sown; but very small seed should not be sown till the seed bed is moist enough to germinate them quickly. Want of care in this particular is often the cause of disappointment, as the seed just germinates and dies before it can get root hold. More liberty may be taken with larger seeds and with cereals—with the exception of barley intended for malting, which to secure a good sample,, must have a good seed bed, regular seeding, uniform growth and ripening, as well as most careful harvesting and threshing, if the best results are to be obtained.

SITUATION AND ASPECT.

The aspect of the land upon which seed is sown, makes much difference in the effect the rays of the sun will have upon the future crop. A northern or eastern aspect is the more suitable for early work or for the late crops, while those crops that will be in full growth during the hottest part of the year will be found to succeed best on land sloping to the south or west. In the former case, the full benefit of the morning sun is obtained, and the growth is more rapid, the ground being shaded from the full glare of the sun till the leaves begin to droop in the process of ripening. In the latter case, even if the slope is a very gentle one, the sun has not the same effect by some degrees as in the case of the slope lying in the other direction. This can be easily proved by sowing a plot on a ridge running east and west. Sow from north to south, and note the difference between the slopes. The seed will germinate first on the northern slope, and will have the lead in growth throughout; but if a spell of hot dry weather occurs, the south slope will hold out longer than the other. Another fact, which is in some places laughed at as superstitious, has been often noted by the writer both in England and Queensland—namely, seed sown at the increase of the moon germinates much quicker than that sown at the decrease, and grows stronger; while, on the other hand, weeds die quickest when cut at the decrease of the moon, weather conditions as to rain and sunshine being equal. The quantity of seed of the various kinds to sow will depend on the quality of the land, and the purpose the crop is meant to serve, whether to ripen seed or for cutting for hay. Seed of all kinds should be sown more thinly on rich than on poor land, or if the object is to ripen seed rather than to cut for hay. Again, seed of plants that tiller freely—as wheat, oats, and Kaffir corn—do not require so heavy a seeding as do those of a less vigorous spreading habit of growth. I have found maize yield better in quantity and quality when sown fairly thick in the row, and allowing a little more distance between the rows. The custom of eating off the too vigorous wheat and barley crops on the Downs has much in its favour, especially the benefit gained by the consolidation of the ground by the treading of the sheep, but I would prefer running a grass mower over the plot, then well roll and harrow it. This would cause the plant to tiller freely, root firmly, and stand up better in stormy weather, and should ensure more uniform ripening. To close this section of our subject it is suggested that the farmer in Queensland, whether on the Downs or the coastal district, would have less failures, and more profit from his crops if, instead of sowing large areas at one time, he adopted the succession system, not only of crops ripening at different periods, but of the same kind sown at intervals of a fortnight.

HARVESTING AND MARKETING.

Having touched upon the chief points to be observed by the young farmer in the selection, working, and seeding of the farm, we must turn our attention to the two things that have been before the mind throughout the whole of these operations—namely, the harvesting and marketing of the fruit of so much care and labour. Just as there is a time to sow and plant, so also there is a time better than all others to gather in the result of the sowing and planting, and that time is undeniably when it is in the most suitable condition for the purpose to which it is to be applied. For green fodder, or for making into hay, lucerne should be cut just when the flowers are showing, as at that period of growth the leaf is at its best, and does not break so readily as if the flowers are allowed to expand. After this stage the feed value decreases, the valuable leaf and tender shorts giving place to seed and stalk, the digestible to the indigestible matter. Oats or other cereals are at their best for this purpose when in the milk stage—i.e., just when the grain is well formed, and before the process of ripening begins. Those making dry fodder on the coastal lands will find more time must be taken in the curing process than is required on the Downs or other districts where the dews are not so heavy. It will be found, too, that if stacked and allowed to stand a few weeks the weight per bale will increase as well as the feed quality, assuming that it was in order when placed in stack. WHEAT for the miller is at its best to harvest before the grain is fully ripe, but a distinction must be made between a crop that has been hurried by hot weather, where the straw is thin and dry, and a crop that has grown vigorously with strut, sappy straw and bold grain. The former should have all it can from the straw before being cut, the latter will feed after the straw is severed. The reason for cutting early is to prevent, as far as possible, the formation of a coarse kernel, in which bran is formed at the expense of flour, the latter as a miller would say, being not strong enough. BARLEY for malting purposes should never be cut till it is swan-necked—that is, the awns turned down till it almost touches the straw. It should be exposed as little to dews and sunshine alternately after it is cut as possible, because one part of the sheaf is thereby bleached, and the sample, when threshed, will show two colours, a thing malsters strongly object to. A good sample of malting barley, when cut, should be hard, the skin wrinkled in a fine network of a pale color, without stripe or black ends. Care must also be taken in threshing that the grain is not broken or skinned. Barley always threshes better when it has been stacked a month or so, than when taken direct from the paddock to the machine. OATS should be cut for seed purposes as soon as a light yellow tinge has overspread the paddock through the straw just below the ear is green. The straw of oats will feed the grain to greater extent than either wheat or barley, but the same warning as in dealing with wheat is given. MAIZE is a crop that will bear more liberties in the matter of harvesting than any cereal crop, but there is still a time when it is at its best for the purpose—viz., when the grain has become fairly hard, though not really dry, it is better severed from the parent plant, for, like other grains when past this stage, it becomes lighter and is of less valuable feeding quality; if pulled on the green side the skin is brighter and thinner, and the meal both clearer and sweeter. The core will yield support to the grain, as the straw does to wheat and oats. To test this take 70 lbs. of cobs from a paddock a fortnight before the main crop is pulled, let them lie in the barn, and when the crop is gathered, again weigh them; take the same weight of cobs freshly picked, shell and weigh both lots, and note results of weight and quality. The ENGLISH POTATO should not be taken up until the skin of the tuber has set. This may be easily known by rubbing a tuber fairly hard with the hand; if taken out of the ground before ripe it has a very ragged appearance, and its keeping quality is lowered. CABBAGE, FRENCH BEANS, TOMATOES, PEAS, and CUCUMBERS are all useful to the starting farmer if his capital is not very extensive, and should all be gathered when in the best form to meet the demand, the earlier in the season the more profitable their growth. SWEDE TURNIPS are at their highest feeding value when the neck of the bulb is well-formed. MANGOLD and CARROTS when the tops lose their upright form and spread round the bulb. To deal with the special crops, such as sugarcane, cotton, coffee, arrowroot, sisal hemp, etc., would carry this article to an inordinate length, and as all such special crops are more or less dependent on the availability of machinery, or other process, to bring them to the condition in which they are finally placed on the market, the general and best method is to remove the crop as early as possible after it is in a fit state for treatment. By this means the growth of the next season's crop is, if not encouraged, certainly not retarded, and any cultivation needed can be done early in the new season.

The marketing of the various crops is a matter in which a practical farmer has a great advantage over his neighbour who does not study the why and wherefore of the things done on the farm, or who has not had the opportunity of gaining experience. It is always more profitable to sell in bulk than in small quantities, chiefly due to the economy in time. Take, say, fifty bags of maize sold in bulk at eight shillings a bag, total, £20; with one delivery and but one risk of loss. Suppose by selling out in single bags and half tons sixpence per bag more is realised, the loss of time in making from ten to above a score different deliveries robs the vendor of the face advantage of twenty-five shillings, besides the very unsatisfactory addition to the book-keeping. The farmer should study the law of demand and supply as far as possible, his object being to supply anything that he has for sale when the demand is active and the supply short. It often occurs that a temporary rise in price in a given article is forced by dealers operating more freely with a view to draw supplies from the farmers. Many seeing the rise in price consign in the hope of benefitting, and are disappointed to find a glut in the market and lower prices. In the coastal districts it is best to market corn during a spell of dry weather, as dampness in the atmosphere affects the condition of the grain. It should not be overlooked by the beginner that keeping farm produce in hand after it is ready to market, even if it does not deteriorate in quality, begins to grow less in quantity by the ravages of rats, mice, and other vermin, and the advantage gained by a small rise in values is counterbalanced by loss of two or three months' interest on the money value of the delayed sale. It is a golden rule running through the whole course of a farmer's life to have done to-day everything that need not be put off till the morrow, alike applicable to seed time, tillage and harvest, no less than to the sale of produce.

LIVE STOCK.

So far little has been said of the live stock on a farm, simply because this article is intended to assist in practice, rather than to give descriptions of the qualities of different kinds of grain or breeds of cattle. The horse best adapted to general farm work is one that is strong and fairly active, of whatever breed the purchaser may fancy, but on scrub lands horses that have been worked some time, and are steady, will do more and better work than younger and more fiery animals. The cow, for the mixed farmer, should be of good milking strain, the Shorthorn or Durham being most suited to the dual purpose of cream and beef. The calves of this breed, bull or heifer, are easy to sell, and if kept on the farm the farmer makes a margin to feed the latter to come into the dairy herd. Sheep for lamb-rearing for export are kept on many mixed farms on the Downs, and no better cross for this purpose is yet discovered than a Shropshire or Hampshire Down ram and cross-bred ewes, though here again each farmer has plenty of scope for the exercise of his own fancy, as management and feeding play as important a part as breed. The fat lamb should have no check from birth to being ready for the butcher. The pig "that pays the rint" quickest and best, the one that brings the most money in the least time by turning the otherwise waste products of the farm to the best account, is the offspring of a Berkshire sow crossed with a middle White Yorkshire Boar. This cross produces an ideal pig for the bacon factory, with plenty of lean meat and scarcity of fat; the cross the other way will be found disappointing, as the progeny will neither be as thrifty or of as good a quality. If poultry are raised for export the kind recommended by the Agricultural Department, whether geese, ducks, turkeys, or fowls, should be procured. However, if only a few are to be kept for eggs and an occasional bird for the table, fowls only should be kept alone; geese, ducks, and turkeys being best left alone without having a wired pen for their accommodation. The period of gestation in the farm animals mentioned is as follows, as an average:—Mare, 340 days; cow, 283 days; ewe, 144 days; sow, 115 days; geese and ducks hatch in from 28 to 30 days and hens in 21 days, each being subject to slight variation as the eggs are new laid or stale.

In conclusion, let all who have any idea of becoming successful farmers remember that the difficulties besetting the farmer's everyday life can either be overcome or minimised, and in many cases the damage done in one direction is more than counterbalanced by benefits derived in another. Discouragement and loss of confidence tend to weakness and failure, whereas ability to derive the utmost from a faulty crop, or to overcome in the best manner the most untoward circumstance, will invigorate and encourage one to go on, "for he that tilleth his land shall have plenty of bread."

THE FARM.

To Ascertain the Weight of Cattle.—Measure the girth close behind the shoulder and the length from the forepart of the shoulder-blade along the back of the bone at the tail, which is in a vertical line at the buttock, both in feet. Multiply the sbuare of the girth expressed in feet by five times the length, and divide the product by twenty-one; the quotient is the weight, nearly, of the fore quarters, in Imperial stones of 14 pounds avoirdupois. For example, if the girth be 6 feet and the length $5\frac{3}{4}$ feet, we shall have 6 x 6=36, and $5\frac{3}{4}$ x 5=$26\frac{3}{4}$; then 36 x $26\frac{3}{4}$=945, and this divided by 21 gives 45 stone exactly. It is to be observed, however, that in very fat cattle the fore quarters will be one-twentieth more, while in those in a very lean state they will be one-twentieth less than the weight obtained by the rule.

LAND SELECTION IN QUEENSLAND.

The State is, as far as necessary, divided into Land Agents' Districts, in each of which there is a Government Land Office and Land Agent. Plans and information respecting the quality, rents, and prices of lands available for selection may be obtained on personal or written application to the Land Agent of the District in which the land is situated or to the Officer in Charge, Inquiry Office, Department of Public Lands, Brisbane.

Land is opened or made available for selection by proclamation in the Government Gazette. The proclamation, which is made not less than four weeks before the time appointed for the opening, specifies the modes in which the land may be selected, the area, rent, price, etc.

The several modes in which land may be acquired are by—(1) Agricultural Selection, i.e., Agricultural Farms and Agricultural Homesteads; (2) Grazing Selection, i.e., Grazing Farms and Grazing Homesteads; (3) Scrub Selection; (4) Unconditional Selection; and (5) Prickly Pear Selection. The more accessible lands near lines of railway, centres of population, and navigable waters are set apart for agricultural selection in areas up to 1,280 acres, while opportunities of acquiring grazing selections in areas up to 60,000 acres are given over a great extent of Queensland territory within accessible distances of the seaboard and the various lines of railway.

No person who is not a British subject by birth or naturalisation may apply for or acquire a selection other than a Scrub Selection; and, except in the case of Scrub Selections, Unconditional Selections, and Prickly Pear Selections, no person who is under the age of sixteen years, or who seeks to acquire the land as the agent or servant or trustee of another, will be allowed to select. A single girl under the age of twenty-one years is debarred from selecting an Agricultural Homestead or Grazing Homestead. A married woman is not competent to select an Agricultural Homestead or a Grazing Homestead, unless she has obtained an order for judicial separation or an order protecting her separate property, or is living apart from her husband and has been specially empowered by the Land Court to select a Homestead. A married woman may, however, acquire a Grazing Homestead by transfer after the expiry of five years of the term of lease.

Applications for selections must be made in the prescribed form, in triplicate, and be lodged with the Land Agent for the district in which the land is situated. They must be signed by the applicant, but may be lodged in the Land Office by his duly constituted attorney, and must be accompanied by a deposit of a year's rent and one-fifth of the survey fee. Ordinarily, applications take priority in the order of their being lodged with the Land Agent, but applications lodged prior to the time proclaimed as that at which land is to be open for selection are regarded as simultaneous with those lodged at that time.

Where land is open for different modes of selection alternatively, priority among simultaneous applications for the same land is given to an application for it as an Agricultural Homestead as against an application for it as an Agricultural Farm; to an application for it as an Agricultural Farm as against an application for it as an Unconditional Selection; and, if the land is open for Grazing Selection, to an application for it as a Grazing Homestead as against an application for it as a Grazing Farm.

Priority is sometimes specially secured to an applicant for an Agricultural Homestead at whose request unsurveyed land is opened for Selection. A condition precedent to the granting of such priority is that a deposit at the rate of 3d. per acre shall have been made with the request, which should be made to the Land Commissioner of the district. Priority granted under these circumstances, does not extend beyond the earliest time at which the land becomes available.

In the case of simultaneous applications for the same land, as an Agricultural Farm, priority is secured by an applicant other than a married woman or a single girl under twenty-one years of age, who, when making application, undertakes to personally reside on the land during the first five years of the lease. In other cases of simultaneous applications for the same land by the same mode of selection, priority is determined by lot, unless in the case of simultaneous applications for the same land as a Grazing Selection, Unconditional Selection, or Prickly Pear Selection, a higher rental is tendered than that proclaimed. In that event the highest tender secures priority.

When an application has been accepted by the Land Commissioner and approved by the Court, and the applicant has paid for any improvements that may be on the land, he becomes entitled to receive a license to occupy the land in the case of an Agricultural Selection or a Grazing Selection, or a lease in the case of a Scrub Selection, Unconditional Selection, or Prickly Pear Selection. Within six months after the issue of a license, the selector must commence to occupy the land, and must thereafter continue to occupy it in the manner prescribed.

AGRICULTURAL SELECTIONS.

Agricultural Farms.

The largest area that may be acquired by any one person as an Agricultural Farm is 1,280 acres. If the same person is the selector of both an Agricultural Farm and an Agricultural Homestead, the joint area must not exceed 1,280 acres. The purchasing price may range from 10s. an acre upwards, as may be declared by proclamation. The term is twenty years. The annual rent is one-fortieth of the purchasing price, and the payments are credited as part of the price.

The land must be continuously occupied by the selector residing personally on it or by his manager or agent doing so. Within five years from the issue of the license to occupy, or such extended time as the Court may allow, the selector must enclose the land with a good and substantial fence, or make substantial and permanent improvements on it equal in value to such a fence. On the completion of the improvements the selector becomes entitled to a lease of the farm, and may thereafter mortgage it; or, with the permission of the Minister, may subdivide or transfer it; or, with the approval of the Court, may underlet it.

The selector of an Agricultural Farm, who has obtained priority by undertaking to reside personally thereon during the first five years of the lease, must comply strictly with that undertaking, and is not allowed during such period to mortgage, transfer, or assign the holding.

After the improvements have been effected any lessee (whether he acquired by selection or transfer) who has held the farm for five years and has duly fulfilled the condition of occupation, may pay the part of the purchasing price then remaining unpaid and obtain a deed of grant in fee-simple. After ten years of the term have elapsed, the purchase may be completed by the then registered lessee irrespective of the time he has held it.

Agricultural Homesteads.

Land open for selection as Agricultural Farms is not available for Agricultural Hometeads unless so proclaimed. The area allowed to be selected as an Agricultural Homestead varies with the quality of the land, and is fixed by proclamation within the following limits, viz.—160 acres in the case of land valued for Agricultural Farm Selection at not less than £1 per acre; 320 acres in the case of land valued at less than £1 but not less than 15s. an acre; and 640 acres in the case of land valued at less than 15s. an acre. The price for a Homestead is 2s. 6d. per acre, the annual rent 3d. an acre, and the term ten years.

The land must be continuously occupied by the selector residing personally thereon.

Within five years from the issue of the license to occupy, or such extended time as the Land Court may allow, the selector must enclose the land with a good and substantial fence, or make substantial and permanent improvements on it equal in value to such a fence. On the completion of the improvements the selector becomes entitled to a lease.

At any time after five years from the commencement of the term, on the selector proving that the conditions have been duly performed and that the sum expended in improvements on the land has been at the rate of 10s., 5s., or 2s. 6d. an acre respectively according to the quality of the land, he may pay up the remaining rent so as to make his total payments equal to 2s. 6d. an acre, and obtain a deed of grant of the land in fee-simple.

The selectors of a group of two or more Agricultural Homesteads may associate together for mutual assistance, and on making proof of bona fides to the Commissioner, may receive from him a Special License enabling not less than one-half of the whole number to perform the conditions of occupation and improvement for the group. The residence may be upon any one or more of the Homesteads, and if more than 10s. has been expended in improvements on any Homestead while the Special License is in force with respect to it, the surplus may be attributed to the others.

GRAZING SELECTIONS.

Grazing Farms.

The greatest area which may be applied for as a Grazing Farm under any circumstances is 60,000 acres, but as in the case of other forms of selection each proclamation opening land for grazing selection declares the maximum area which may be selected in the area to which it applies. In the event of lands open under different proclamations, and of a total area exceeding 20,000 acres being applied for by the same person, a rental limitation of £200 per annum must be observed as well as the maximum areas declared by the several proclamations. Thus, of lands open at 2d. per acre, the greatest area obtainable would be 24,000 acres; at 1½d. per acre, 32,000 acres, and so on. The term may be fourteen, twenty-one, or twenty-eight years, as the opening proclamation may declare. The annual rent for the first period of seven years may range from ½d. per acre upwards, as may be proclaimed or tendered. The rent for each subsequent period of seven years will be determined by the Court.

A Grazing Farm must be continuously occupied by the selector residing personally on it, or by his manager or agent doing so.

Within three years from the issue of the license to occupy, or such extended time, as the Land Court may allow, the selector must enclose the land with a good and substantial fence, and must keep it so fenced during the whole of the term. In the case of two or more contiguous farms, not exceeding in the aggregate 20,000 acres, the Court may by Special License permit the selectors to fence only the outside boundaries of the whole area. If the Proclamation declaring the land open for selection so prescribed, the enclosing fence must be of such character as to prevent the passage of rabbits. In the case of a group of contiguous grazing farms not exceeding eight in number, or 200 square miles in total area, and which are situated within a district constituted under "The Rabbit Boards Act, 1896," the Court may by Special License permit the enclosure of the whole area with a fence of such character as to prevent the passage of rabbits, instead of requiring each farm to be separately enclosed.

The selectors of a group of two or more grazing farms, the area of none of which exceeds 2,560 acres, may associate together for mutual assistance, and on making proof of bona fides to the Commissioner, may receive from him a Special License enabling not less than one-half of the whole number by their personal residence on some one or more of the farms to perform the condition of occupation in respect of all the farms.

When a Grazing Farm is enclosed in the manner required, the selector becomes entitled to a lease of it, and may thereafter mortgage it; or, with the permission of the Minister, may subdivide or transfer it; or, with the approval of the Court, may underlet it.

Grazing Homesteads.

Lands open for selection as Grazing Farms must also be open for selection as Grazing Homesteads, and at the same rental and for the same term of lease. As already stated, an application to select as a Grazing Homestead takes precedence of a simultaneous application to select the same land as a Grazing Farm. The conditions and other provisions abovementioned in respect of Grazing Farms are applicable also to Grazing Homesteads, with the following exceptions:—

(1.) During the first five years of the term of a Grazing Homestead the condition of occupation must be performed by the continuous personal residence of the selector on the land.

(2.) Before the expiration of five years from the commencement of the term, or the death of the original lessee, whichever first happens, a Grazing Homestead is not capable of being mortgaged, assigned, or transferred.

SCRUB SELECTIONS.

Lands entirely or extensively overgrown by scrub may be opened for selection as Scrub Selections up to 10,000 acres in area and with a term of thirty years. These are classed according to the proportion covered by scrub, and for periods varying from five to twenty years, according to classification, no rent is chargeable. During this first period the selector must clear the whole of the scrub in equal proportions each year, and must keep it cleared, and must enclose the selection with a good and substantial fence. The annual rent payable for the subsequent periods ranges from ½d. to 1d. per acre. A negotiable lease is issued to the selector when his application has been approved by the Court.

UNCONDITIONAL SELECTIONS.

The greatest area allowed to be acquired by any one person as an Unconditional Selection in one district is 1,280 acres; the price per acre ranges from 13s. 4d. upwards and is payable in twenty annual instalments. As the term implies, no other conditions than the payment of the purchase money are attached to this mode of selection. A negotiable lease for the term of twenty years is issued to the selector when his application to select has been approved by the Court. A deed of grant may be obtained at any time on payment of the balance of the purchasing price.

PRICKLY PEAR SELECTION.

Prickly Pear Infested Selections.

Prickly pear infested selections comprise lands heavily infested with prickly pear. The area must not exceed 5,000 acres.

The term is fifteen years with a peppercorn rental for the first ten years, and an annual rent of one-fifth of the purchasing price for the remaining five years. During the first ten years of the term the land must be absolutely cleared of prickly pear—one-tenth during each year—and must be kept clean for the remainder of the term. The freehold may be obtained within six months after the expiration of the term on proving compliance with the conditions of the lease.

Prickly Pear Frontage Selections.

Prickly pear frontage selections are confined to proclaimed prickly pear frontage areas, comprising lands free from or only lightly infested with prickly pear, but which adjoin and do not extend for more than two miles from lands heavily infested. The greatest area allowed is 5,000 acres.

The term is ten years, with a peppercorn rental for the first five years, and an annual rent of one-fifth of the purchasing price during the remaining five years. During the first five years of the term the land must be absolutely cleared of prickly pear—one-fifth during each year—and must be kept clear during the balance of the term.

The freehold may be obtained within six months after the expiration of the term on proving compliance with the conditions of the lease.

Prickly Pear (Bonus) Selections.

Provision is made by "The Prickly Pear Selections Act of 1901" for a third form of prickly pear selection, under which the freehold of the land, and a bonus in addition, are granted in return for the complete eradication of the pear. The maximum amount per acre payable as bonus is stated in the opening proclamation, but each applicant must lodge a tender specifying a bonus per acre not in excess of that mentioned in the proclamation. In the case of simultaneous applications for the same land, priority attaches to the lowest tender. The size of the portions opened must not exceed 2,560 acres. The term of lease is ten years, at a peppercorn rental throughout. The land must be absolutely cleared of prickly pear during the first seven years—one-seventh each year—and the clearing must be maintained until the expiry of the lease. One-seventh of the bonus payable may be claimed at the end of each of the first seven years of the term, on proof to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the condition of eradication has been complied with. The freehold may be obtained within six months after the expiry of the term, without any cash payment, on proving compliance with the conditions of the lease.

REPURCHASED LANDS.

Land repurchased by the Crown under the provisions of "The Agricultural Lands Purchase Acts of 1894 and 1897," are first made available for Agricultural Farm Selection, on a term of twenty years. The rent to be paid for the first year is equal to £10 for every £100 of the purchasing price, and (no payment being required the second year) an annual payment, £7 19s. for every £100, continued from the third to the twentieth year will, at the end of the term, have paid off the principal sum and interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum. If the payment of the balance of the purchase-money is made before the end of the term a rebate in interest is made accordingly. The selection must be occupied during the term by the residence of the selector or his registered agent. Land remaining open for Agricultural Farm selection for three months may thereafter be opened for Unconditional selection at the same price.

OTHER MODES OF ACQUISITION.

Crown lands may be acquired in fee-simple by auction purchase in areas up to 5,120 acres. There is no limitation to the area of freehold land which may be held by any one person. The minimum purchasing price for agricultural land bought at auction is £1 per acre, and for other land 10s. per acre.

Opportunity is also afforded for the occupation of Crown lands for pastoral purposes from year to year under an occupation license, or for a fixed term not exceeding 42 years under pastoral lease. There is no limitation to the area which may be held by one person under either of these tenures.

REGULATIONS FOR CARRIAGE BY RAIL OF SELECTORS AND THEIR EFFECTS.

(Published in the Supplement to the Government Gazette, 15th November, 1902.)

1. Any bona fide intending selector wishing to inspect land previous to selecting may apply to the Under Secretary for Public Lands for a Certificate (Form A) in respect of the railway journey to and from the railway station nearest to the land he wishes to inspect. This Certificate shall be handed in at the railway station at which the journey is commenced when application is made for the usual railway ticket. For such ticket the ordinary fare must be paid.

2. If the intending selector subsequently selects an Agricultural Selection he will on application to the Under Secretary for Public Lands, receive further Certificates (Forms B, C, D, E) entitling him, on presentation of them to the respective officials mentioned below, to the concessions stated in each case respectively:—

Certificate.	To whom to be presented.	Concession.
B	Secretary to the Commissioner for Railways	A refund of the railway fare paid in respect of the journey mentioned in Certificate A
C	Railway Stationmaster	A free pass for the carriage by rail of the selector and his family to the railway station nearest to his selection
D	Ditto	A free pass for the carriage by rail of the selector's ordinary household furniture and effects, agricultural implements, s ed, one dray, and one set of harness to the railway station nearest to his selection
E	Ditto	A reduction of 25 per cent. on the ordinary classification rates for fencing and building material in respect of the carriage of any such material intended for use in improving the selection. This concession will apply also to live stock to a limited extent, and to such other articles as the Minister for Lands may consider it necessary for the selector to use in working his selection.

3. The concessions granted in virtue of Certificates B, C, D, and E must be availed of within six months from the issue to the selector of a license to occupy the land.

4. For the purpose of free carriage by rail, the term "ordinary household furniture" will not include musical instruments, wardrobes, marble articles, bookcases or mirrors (excepting toilet glasses). "Agricultural implements" will not include steam-engines or other motive power, or instruments thereof.

5. Unless certificates are first obtained, as set forth in paragraphs 1 and 2, a selector will not be entitled to any of the concessions provided for, and applications for refunds of fares and freight will not be entertained.

6. Selectors taking advantage of the concessions provided for in these Regulations will be required to pay all charges for lighterage, cartage, etc.

QUEENSLAND.

THE State of Queensland, in the Commonwealth of Australia—formerly known as the Moreton Bay district—comprises the whole of the North-Eastern portion of the Continent of Australia; its boundaries being—on the North the Gulf of Carpentaria and Torres Strait; on the East the Pacific Ocean; on the West the Northern Territory of South Australia—the dividing line being the 141st meridian of longitude from the 29th to the 26th parallel, and thence the 138th meridian; and on the South the State of New South Wales. Its estimated area—exclusive of the islands contiguous to the coast, which, however, belong to Queensland—is about 668,497 square miles, being about twelve times the size of England and Wales. Its extreme length from North to South is 1,300 miles, its breadth 800 miles, the coast line being about 2,250 miles. It was visited by Captain Cook in May, 1770; first settled in 1824; and erected into an independent Colony on December 10th, 1859. On January 1, 1901, the various States of Australia became federated in the Commonwealth of Australia. The State is divided into sixty-one Electorates, fifty Districts each returning one member, and eleven Districts each returning two members. It has six Cities, twenty-nine Municipal Towns, and upwards of two hundred small Towns or Townships. There are also Shire Councils charged with the construction and maintenance of public highways and other necessary public works within their boundaries. The people of Queensland are principally engaged in pastoral, agricultural, or mining pursuits, or in business connected therewith,

Registration of Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

EVERY Birth must be registered within sixty days, and every Death within thirty days next thereafter respectively; any neglect of this regulation renders the parties whose duty it is to register liable to a fine not exceeding £10. If sixty days have elapsed from the date of birth, the law requires the parent, or other person making the application to register such birth, to pay a fee of two shillings and sixpence, and to make a solemn declaration of the facts before a Justice of the Peace, prior to the registration. The father or mother ought to sign as informant. If unable to write, let a mark be made. No birth can be registered after three years have elapsed from the date thereof; but a record will be made in the Registrar-General's office if reliable information be supplied by the parents respecting such birth.

Every Minister and Justice authorised to celebrate marriages, who have celebrated a marriage must, within one month thereafter, transmit (in accordance with the Act 28 Victoria, No. 15) the original certificate to the Registrar of the District in which the marriage was celebrated, and every Minister and Justice who fail to transmit the certificate to the District Registrar is liable to a fine of NOT LESS THAN £10, and not exceeding £50. Marriages must be solemnised by Ministers and District Registrars between the hours of 8 a.m. and 8 p.m., and by Justices between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. Persons under age must produce the written authority of parents or guardians, signed by them in the presence of a Justice of the Peace, Registered Minister, or District Registrar, or the marriage cannot take place.

In every case of Burial, the Minister or person officiating at any religious service at such Burial, ought to receive from the undertaker, or person having charge of the funeral, a certificate from the District Registrar, certifying the registration of the death, unless in the case of inquest, when a certificate from the Coroner or Magistrate holding the inquest will be sufficient; and if any dead body shall be buried without such certificate, the person who may bury the same, or perform any funeral or religious service for the burial, or who shall in any way dispose of the body, shall forthwith give notice of the facts to the District Registrar. Undertakers are bound, under a penalty not exceeding £10, to lodge with the District Registrar, IMMEDIATELY after the burial a certificate of such burial, signed by themselves and COUNTERSIGNED BY TWO WITNESSES.

Law Calendar.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF QUEENSLAND.

Law Calendar for the Year 1906.

The sittings will be taken by the Judges named, unless otherwise arranged.

The sittings of the Full Court in June shall take the place of the sittings in May referred to in Rule 2 of the Rules, as of Friday, the twelfth day of December, 1879, for the Admission of Solicitors.

At sittings of the Circuit Courts, Crown business shall be first taken.

Trials and hearings before a single Judge (including trials and hearings of matrimonial actions) may be set down, upon notice to the Associate, for any Chamber day of the Judge to whom the cause or matter is assigned, or, with the sanction of the Judge, for any other day.

Chamber days and hours in Brisbane shall be Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, at 10 a.m., except during the Christmas and Winter Vacations, when they shall be Wednesdays, at the same hour. The Registrar shall send to the Associate a list of all summonses and matters returnable in Chambers, together with all affidavits and papers connected therewith. All such affidavits and papers must be filed before 9.45 a.m.

The Winter Vacation shall commence on Monday, 25th June, 1906, and end on Saturday, 21st July, 1906.

The Christmas Vacation shall commence on Monday, 17th December, 1906, and end on Saturday, 9th February, 1907.

AGENCIES IN ALL THE PRINCIPAL TOWNS IN QUEENSLAND.

This Company was incorporated by Special Act of Parliament in 1888 solely for the purpose of acting in the capacities and of performing the duties undermentioned AS IT TAKES NO OTHER BUSINESS WHATEVER, it is not only free from any element of speculation, but provides for the public a permanent and guaranteed system of skilled management under the direct supervision of the Supreme Court. Under the Company's Special Act, it may be appointed to undertake any of the following duties:—Executor, Administrator, or Trustee under Wills, Marriage, or other Settlements; Attorney or Agent in the management or realisation of Estates; Guardian of the Person and the Estate of any Infant, Liquidator or Official Liquidator of any Company; Trustee in Insolvency; or Committee in Lunacy.

In compliance with the Company's Act, the sum of £20,000 is invested in the name of the State Treasurer as security for the faithful performance of duties entrusted to the Company. THE CHARGES are less than the Court usually allows to private executors. Pamphlets obtainable on application.

P. A. BLUNDELL, Manager.

A WILL should be made in the plainest language possible; it must be written with ink on paper or parchment, and must be signed at the foot or end thereof by the testator (the person who makes the will) or some other person, in his presence, and by his direction, and the testator must make or acknowledge such signature in the presence of two or more witnesses, who must be present at the same time and attest and subscribe the will in the testator's presence. A full attestation clause is given in the forms below, and its use in all cases will probably save a lot of trouble.

The witnesses should not be in any way beneficially interested in the will, as any beneficial gift, legacy or appointment by the will to an attesting witness, or to the husband or wife of an attesting witness (except a charge for payment of debts) is void. An executor or trustee appointed by a will may, however, act as an attesting witness.

A witness need not know the contents of the will, as the will may be so folded that the signature and Attestation Clause alone may be seen.

On the question of whom to appoint executors or trustees, attention is directed to the advantages of appointing a permanent institution like Queensland Trustees Limited, whose advertisement appears on the previous page.

FORMS OF WILLS.

I.—WILL GIVING TO ONE ABSOLUTELY ALL THE TESTATOR'S REAL AND PERSONAL ESTATE.

I, A.B., of &c. (testator's name, residence, and quality), hereby REVOKE all testamentary writings heretofore executed by me, and declare this to be my last will made and executed on the day of 19 . I DEVISE and BEQUEATH all my real and personal estate unto (devisee's name, residence, and quality) absolutely. AND I APPOINT the said (name) sole executor of this my will. IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand.

(Testator's signature).

Signed by A.B., of &c., as his last will, in the presence of us present at the same time, who, at at his request, in his presence, and in the presence of each other, have subscribed our names as attesting witnesses.

(Names and addresses of two witnesses).

II.—WILL OF A MARRIED MAN GIVING THE INCOME OF HIS PROPERTY TO HIS WIFE; SUBJECT THERETO, THE CAPITAL EQUALLY AMONG HIS CHILDREN, THE CHILDREN OF A DECEASED CHILD TAKING THEIR PARENT'S SHARE.

THIS IS THE LAST WILL of me (testator's name, residence, and quality), I REVOKE all testamentary instruments heretofore executed by me, and I APPOINT .....and..... [or Queensland Trustees Limited], hereinafter called "my trustees," executors and trustees of this my will. I BEQUEATH to my wife (name) all the household furniture, plate, linen, china, glass, books, pictures, prints, provisions, and other household effects belonging to me at the time of my death, and a legacy of £....., to be paid to her out of the first moneys coming to the hands of my executors. And as to all the rest of my estate and effects, both real and personal, I devise and bequeath the same unto and to the use of my trustees UPON TRUST to sell, call in and convert into money my real and residuary personal estate. And UPON FURTHER TRUST to invest the money arising from the sale calling in and conversion thereof in the names or name of the trustees or trustee for the time being of this my will; And to pay the annual income of such investments to my wife during her life. And from and after her death as to the capital and income of the same investments UPON TRUST for my children in equal shares, the respective shares of such children to be absolutely vested on my death. Provided that if any child of mine shall die in my lifetime, leaving issue, who shall survive me, and who being male shall attain the age of twenty-one years, or being female shall attain that age, or marry under that age, such issue shall take, and if more than one, equally between them, the share which their, his, or her parent would have taken of and in any residuary estate if such parent had lived to attain a vested interest. I DECLARE that the trustees or trustee for the time being of this my will shall have a discretionary power to postpone for such period as to them or him shall seem expedient the sale calling in or conversion of any parts of my real or personal estate, but the unsold real estate and the outstanding personal estate shall be subject to the trusts hereinbefore contained concerning the investments aforesaid, and the rents and yearly produce thereof shall be deemed annual income for the purposes of such trusts, and the unsold real estate shall be deemed to be converted as from the time of my death, and be transmissible as personal estate accordingly. I DECLARE that if at any time or times during the widowhood of my wife the annual income of my estate shall be less than £....., it shall be lawful for the trustees or trustee for the time being of this my will to raise out of the capital thereof and pay to my widow such a sum as will make her income up to £..... a year. I DECLARE that so long as my wife lives and continues unmarried the power of appointing new trustees conferred by statute shall be exercisable by her. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand this.....day of.....190 .

(Testator's signature).

Signed by the testator, the said (testator's name), as his last will in the presence of us present at the same time, who at his request, in his presence, and in the presence of each other, have hereunto subscribed our names as attesting witnesses.

(Names and addresses of two witnesses)

NOTE.—Obliterations and alterations of any sort in the will ought, if possible, to be avoided; when they have to be made, each one of them must be signed or initialled by the testator and witnessed on the margin, or as near to the alteration as possible.

It is also advisable for both the testator and the witnesses to subscribe their names at the foot of every sheet, where the will contains more than one sheet of paper.

Marriage after making a will renders the will void, and necessitates another being made.

N.B.—If the above forms are not adapted to your requirements, it will be prudent to secure professional assistance, and if this is not at hand, write to the manager of Queensland Trustees Limited, vide advertisement on previous page.

PASSENGERS.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

Children under five years of age will be permitted to travel free. Children of five years of age and upwards, but under fourteen years of age, will be permitted to travel at half the full fares.

PASSENGERS NOT TO TRAVEL WITHOUT TICKETS OR PASSES.

Any person who travels by railway unless he is provided with—

(A) A proper ticket issued by an officer or duly authorised agent of the Commissioner; or

(B) A free railway pass issued by an officer of the Commissioner duly authorised in that behalf; shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £10.

AVAILABILITY OF SINGLE TICKETS.

Single tickets for distances of 50 miles and under are available only for the date on which the tickets are issued.

Single tickets for distances over 50 miles and under 150 miles are available for seven days after date of issue, and for distances 150 miles and over fourteen days; but in either case the journey must be commenced on the date of issue.

AVAILABILITY OF RETURN TICKETS.

Return tickets will be issued between all railway stations, and shall be available as follows:—10 miles and under, day of issue only, except when no train is available for return, in which case they are available for the following day; 11 miles to 50 miles, 2 weeks, exclusive of the day of issue; 51 miles to 150 miles, 1 calendar month, exclusive of the day of issue; 151 miles to 300 miles, 3 calendar months, exclusive of the day of issue; over 300 miles, 6 calendar months, exclusive of the day of issue.

The forward journey must be commenced on the date of issue and completed within the period for which a single ticket is available.

Return tickets between South Brisbane, Vulture Street, Gloucester Street, or Park Road and Southport, and Mount Morgan and Tanby, are available for one calendar month.

Return tickets to any of the following watering places from stations under 11 miles distant, viz.:—Wynnum, Wynnum South, Manly, Birkdale, Wellington Point, Ormiston, West Cleveland, Southport, Nudgee, Sandgate, Pialba, Broadmount, or Emu Park shall be available for return for one week.

BREAK OF JOURNEY.

Passengers holding return tickets for any distance may be allowed to break their journey at any station, provided the journey is completed within the period for which the tickets are available. But the forward journey of return tickets must be commenced on date of issue, and completed within the period for which a single ticket is available, with the exception that 7 days will be allowed to complete the forward journey of return tickets between Cairns and Mareeba.

Any passenger desirous of breaking his journey must deposit his ticket (for which a receipt will be given if required) with the station-master at each station where the journey is broken, the ticket being returned to him on resuming his journey.

Passengers holding excursion tickets to places distant 200 miles and over may break the forward journey, provided they travel not less than 100 miles on the day of issue. The forward journey must, however, be completed within the period for which a single ticket is available. In all other cases, passengers holding excursion tickets are not allowed to break their forward journey unless it is impossible to complete it on the day the tickets are issued, in which case they must proceed by the first available train thereafter; or, to avoid a break, they may be permitted to obtain and use their tickets on the day preceding the day appointed for their issue. The return journey, however, may be broken as stated above.

EXCESSING PASSENGERS, CHANGE OF CLASS, RETURN TICKETS, &c.

Passengers travelling first class with second class tickets—

(A) Ordinary Single Tickets.—Passengers travelling in a first-class carriage with second-class tickets shall be charged the difference between first and second-class single fare, and for which a book-ticket, endorsed "2nd to 1st class," shall be issued.

(B) Ordinary Return Tickets.—Passengers travelling in a first-class carriage with second-class tickets on the forward or return journey shall be charged half the difference between first-class and second-class ordinary return fare, and for which a book-ticket, endorsed "2nd to 1st class," shall be issued.

(c) Excursion Tickets.—Passengers travelling in a first-class carriage with second-class ticket on the forward or return journey shall be charged the difference between the first and second class ordinary single fares.

These charges only apply where passengers pay excess from the station at which they commence their journey to destination station.

In cases where passengers holding either single, return, or excursion tickets travel only a portion of the journey in a superior class, such portion of the journey shall be charged at the difference between first and second class single fare over the section travelled.

Brisbane Tickets Available to South Brisbane.

Passenger tickets (other than season tickets) between Brisbane and Corinda, or stations west of Corinda are available to or from South Brisbane.

Extension of Return and Excursion Tickets.

A single ticket, available for three months after the expiration of the period for which the return or excursion ticket is current, will be issued in exchange for the backward half of an ordinary return or excursion ticket (except Friday or Saturday to Monday excursion ticket tickets), provided application is made within the currency of the ticket, on payment of the difference between the amount paid and two single fares. After the ticket has expired no allowance will be made.

Friday or Saturday to Monday excursion tickets may be extended for the same period as ordinary return tickets, according to distance, on payment of the difference between excursion and ordinary return fares, provided application be made not later than Tuesday following the date of issue.

Sale of Parcels of Return Tickets on Suburban Lines.

On application to station masters, packages of return tickets between stations on Suburban Lines will be sold to private individuals at a reduction of 10 per cent. on the ordinary fares; also from Sandgate and Sandgate Central to Brisbane, and Cleveland, Ormiston, Wellington Point, Manly, Wynnum South, and Wynnum to South Brisbane, at a reduction of 10 per cent. on ordinary excursion fares.

Monthly Excursions.

Excursion tickets are issued for distances of not less than 100 miles on the first Saturday (and preceding Friday, also on the following Sunday where Sunday trains are run) in each month; and as the Commissioner may direct, from stations where trains do not run on these days.

Week-end Excursions.

Tickets at excursion fares are issued every Friday and Saturday (and on Sunday where Sunday trains are run) between all stations 12 miles and over apart, available to return until the following Monday, or where trains do not run on Mondays until the first running day thereafter.

Between stations less than 12 miles apart, the fares shall not exceed those for 12 miles.

Season Tickets to South Brisbane.

Season tickets issued from stations between Ipswich and Corinda (inclusive) to Brisbane Central may be made available to South Brisbane Station on an additional payment of one-half the published rates for the same class and period between South Brisbane and Corinda Stations.

Two-Monthly Season Tickets.

Season tickets for two months may be issued at double the rate for a monthly ticket, less 7½ per cent.

Family Tickets.

The following reduction in the rates for ordinary season tickets other than tickets issued at reduced rates, shall be made to bona fide members of the same family, viz.: —Parents and their children residing in the same house, and taken out on the same date, and travelling between the same stations, and available between the same dates, viz.: —For two tickets, a reduction of 10 per cent.; three tickets, 15 per cent.; four or more tickets, 20 per cent.

Wives of Season Ticket Holders.

Half the ordinary season ticket rates will be charged for season tickets issued to wives of season ticket holders, Every such ticket must be for the same period as that issued to the husband, or for a shorter period, and between the same or intermediate stations.

Season Tickets Lost.

Passengers who have lost their season tickets may, upon making a written declaration to the station-master, obtain a duplicate ticket on payment of 10 per cent. of the value of the unexpired period for which it was available. Minimum charge, 2s.; maximum, £1.

In the case of metal season tickets (other than gold tickets) being lost, the sum of one shilling for a duplicate ticket shall be charged in addition to the above.

Season tickets may be issued between Brisbane and Sydney—£70 1st Class Yearly; £40 1st Class Half-yearly, exclusive of sleeping accommodation. Season tickets at half these rates will be issued to press representatives.

Scholars.

Season tickets. at half the full season ticket rates, may be issued to scholars (irrespective of age) attending any school, upon the certificate of the master of the school.

Scholars under sixteen years of age residing where there is no public school within two miles of their homes will be granted free second class season tickets to enable them to attend the nearest public school to which the train service is available.

Youths, Girls, and Apprentices.

Season tickets for periods of not less than three months may be issued at two-thirds of the full season ticket rates to employés under twenty-two years of age who are earning less than £65 per annum.

Every person applying for such ticket must sign a declaration in the form provided for the purpose, and the correctness of the information therein contained shall be certified to by the employer, or, where there is no employer, by a justice of the peace or minister of religion.

TICKETS FOR SCHOOLS, AGRICULTURAL COLLEGES, UNIVERSITIES, ETC.

Return tickets, at excursion fares, may be issued to teachers (also to teachers' wives who are included on the teaching staff of the Education Department as teachers of needlework in conntry schools where there is no female assistant) of recognised day schools travelling during the midwinter and midsummer vacations between stations 12 miles and over apart.

Return tickets, available for two months, may be issued during vacations between stations 10 miles and over apart to scholars attending any recognised school, at the rates following: Scholars under 16 years of age, half full single fares; scholars 16 years of age and over, full single fares.

Scholars travelling to attend school or returning to their homes after completion of their studies may obtain single tickets at the following fares:—Under 16 years of age, half full single fares; 16 years of age and over, half return fares.

Return tickets may be issued during vacations to students attending any university or school at the following fares between stations in New South Wales and Victoria and stations in Queensland between which inter-state fares are in operation:—Students under 16 years of age, half full single fares; 16 years of age and over, half holiday excursion fares.

Scholars' return tickets and return tickets issued to university students shall be available for three months,.

Scholars travelling to attend school in Glen Innes, Armidale, Sydney, or Melbourne may obtain single tickets at the following rates:—Under 16 years of age, half full single fares; 16 years of age and over, half holiday excursion fares.

The term "Vacation" shall, in the case of scholars and students, be taken to mean Midwinter, Midsummer, Michaelmas, and Easter holidays only.

The correctness of the information given in the applications shall, in the case of head teachers, be certified to by the chairman or secretary of the local school committee, and in the case of other teachers, scholars, or students, by the head teacher or registrar of the school or university, as the case may be.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, GATTON.

Return tickets at excursion fares may be issued to visitors to the College, on production of a certificate from the Department of Agriculture.

On application to Traffic Managers, return tickets at half return fares may be issued to parties comprising fifty or more visitors travelling distances of not less than 50 miles to the Agricultural College, Gatton. For shorter distances single fares for the double journey will be charged, but not more than half return fares for 50 miles. Smaller parties may be conveyed at pleasure-party rates.

STATE EXPERIMENTAL FARMS.

Return tickets at excursion fares may be issued to visitors travelling to State Experimental Farms, on production of a certificate from the Department of Agriculture.

TECHNICAL COLLEGE TICKETS.

Return tickets at half fares (minimum, 6d. first class, and 3d. second class) available for return for the same periods as ordinary return tickets, will be issued to teachers and students (irrespective of age) travelling to attend Technical College classes, or lecturers under the auspices of the Dental Board of Queensland, on application to the station-master, in accordance with form of application, which may be obtained from the secretary of the Technical College, or Registrar of the Dental Board, who shall certify to the correctness of the information contained therein.

JUDGES OF SHOWS.

Judges of shows may obtain return tickets at excursion fares on application to the Traffic Manager, provided they are travelling to places at which bona fide shows or exhibitions are being held; and, if travelling to stations in other States between which through fares are in operation, return tickets, available for one month, at single fare for the double journey will be issued.

SCHOOL OF MINES.

Reurn Tickets at Half Fares (minimum, 6d. first class, and 3d. second class) will be issued to students travelling to attend classes, on application to the station-master, with forms of application, which may be obtained from the masters or directors of the institutions, who shall certify to the correctness of the information contained therein.

SCHOOL EXCURSIONS.

Persons to the number of not less than 50 desirous of travelling as a school excursion shall, on other than public holidays, upon giving to the Traffic Manager three days' notice of their intention, be entitled to return tickets at the following reduced rates:—Adults, excursion fares; scholars, half excursion fares irrespective of age. But the minimum charge shall be 6d. for each adult and 3d. for each scholar.

MINISTERS OF RELIGION.

Registered ministers of religion may, upon application to the Traffic Managers, obtain season tickets for three, six, or twelve months, at the following rates:—45 miles and under, one-fourth the full season ticket rates. Minimum distance to be charged, 10 miles.

Three months:—46 to 50 miles, £2 1s.; 51 to 100 miles, 4½ per mile added to the 50-mile rate; 101 to 200 miles, 1½d. per mile added to the 100-mile rate; 201 to 500 miles, 1¼ per mile added to the 200-mile rate; over 500 miles, 1d. per mile added to the 500-mile rate;

Six months:—46 to 50 miles, £3 13s. 10d.. 51 to 100 miles, 8d. per mile added to the 50-mile rate; over 100 miles, 2½ per mile added to the 100-mile rate.

Twelve Months:—46 miles to 50 miles, £7; 51 to 100 miles, 1s. 3½d. per mile added to the 50-mile rate; over 100 miles, 4¾d. per mile added to the 100-mile rate.

Clergymen's season tickets may be made to cover the free conveyance of a bicycle on payment of 25 per cent. in addition to the above rates.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS.

Traffic Managers may, upon application of an employer, issue for his commercial traveller yearly first class season tickets at the following rate for each ticket:—100 miles and under, £25; 101 to 200 miles, 2s. 6d. per mile added to the rate for 100 miles; 201 to 300 miles, 2s. per mile added to the rate for 200 miles; 301 to 700 miles, 1s. 6d. per mile added to the rate for 300 miles; over 700 miles, 1s. per mile added to the rate for 700 miles.

Season tickets available for all lines will be issued as follows:—Yearly, £100; half-yearly, £55; quarterly, £30.

Second class yearly commercial travellers' tickets may be issued at two-thirds of the full first class rates.

Every such ticket may, on the commercial traveller to whom it was issued ceasing to be employed as such, or on leaving his employment, be surrendered by his employer, and on presentation of an application and payment of a fee of ten shillings, a fresh ticket will be issued for his successor, available for the remainder of the term of the original ticket. In no case, however, will a commercial traveller's ticket, after being transferred, be re-transferred to the original holder, except in case of sickness, duly certified by the firm.

Insurance Agents.

Insurance agents requiring yearly season tickets for distances of not less than 100 miles shall be charged the same rates as are charged to commercial travellers.

Free Passes and Concessions to Large Traders.

In the event of any person or firm paying freight upon goods and live stock carried on the Government Railway Lines of the State to the extent mentioned in the following table, the concessions specified in conection with such payments respectively shall be granted to such person or firm, or to any employee of such person or firm:—Amount paid during twelve months, £1,000, extent of concessions, 5 per cent. off commercial travellers' rates; £2,000, 10 per ceut.; £3,000, 15 per cent.; £4,000, 20 per cent.; £5,000, 25 per cent.; £6,000, 30 per cent.; £7,000, 35 per cent.; £8,000, 40 per cent.; £9,000, 45 per cent.; £10,000 to £15,000, one sectional pass; £20,000, one pass over all lines or two sectional passes.

Annual tickets over one or more sections of the railway systems will, on application to the Traffic Managers, be transferred once in any month during their currency from the holder to a member or employee of the same firm or company on payment of £5, to be paid when the original ticket is issued, and a fee of 5s. to be charged at the time the transfer is made. For the purposes of this clause a sectional pass shall be deemed to be a pass for twelve months over 600 miles of continuous line in the Southern Division, which Division includes all lines south of Gladstone; or a pass on the Central Railway and branches, including the Emu Park and Broadmount lines; or a pass on the Northern Railway, including the Ravenswood Branch, and the Mackay, Cairns, and Normanton Railways.

In the event of death, sickness, resignation, or dismissal of a holder of a yearly or half-yearly ticket over one or more sections of the railway system, upon which the initial fee of £5 has not been paid at the time the original ticket is taken, a yearly ticket will be transferred twice, and a half-yearly ticket once, on payment of 10s. only for each transfer.

The passes shall be first class, exclusive of sleeping berths, and may be issued for such sections as the applicants desire.

In the absence of ledger accounts, the onus of proving payment of the requisite amount shall rest with the applicants for the passes.

Passengers by Ocean Steamers.

Oversea passengers presenting certificates from the agents or superintendents of mail steamship companies that they are bona fide passengers travelling to join or after leaving ocean steamers (other than interstate steamers —unless where specially approved by the Commissioner) may obtain tickets at the following fares, provided they are booked through to or from places outside the Commonwealth of Australia, Port Darwin and Western Australian ports excepted:—

Rockhampton to Melbourne

Passengers holding single-journey steamer tickets will only be granted single-journey railway tickets at these reduced fares.

Single tickets and the forward halves of return tickets purchased when proceeding to join the steamers will be available for seven days.

Single tickets and the forward halves of return tickets purchased on leaving the steamers will be available for one month. The return halves of tickets will be available for six months.

The journey may be broken during the currency of the tickets.

Through Tickets to the Coast.

In order that passengers may derive the full benefit of the time within which return tickets are available according to distance, through tickets may be issued from stations on the Southern, Western, and North Coast lines to stations on the Southport and Cleveland lines, and vice versa; but such tickets shall not include conveyance between the two lines.

The through fares, except those calculated via Yeerongpilly, will be arrived at by adding the two local fares together thus—Gympie, Ipswich, or Toowoomba, as the case may be, to Brisbane (Central). South Brisbane to Cleveland (or Southport, as the case may be.)

Interchangeable Rail and Steamer Tickets.

The return portion of first class ordinary tickets issued between Brisbane and Sydney, Melbourne, or Adelaide, are interchangeable for such steamship company's tickets as the Commissioner may agree to accept; and in the same manner the return portion of steamer tickets will be interchangeable for railway tickets, on presentation of an order from the steamship company, and then presented at the booking offices at Adelaide, Melbourne, Sydney or Brisbane.

DELEGATES TO MEETINGS OF FRIENDLY SOCIETIES.

Delegates (adults only) travelling, in parties of not less than six, between stations not less than 24 miles apart, to attend meetings of Friendly Societies, may obtain return tickets at half-return fares. The authority of the Traffic Manager must be obtained in each instance and the usual certificate presented.

DELEGATES TO CONFERENCES.

Accredited delegates (adults only) travelling between stations in Queensland, and consisting of six or more in number, journeying not less than 25 miles, to attend church or other approved conferences, may, on application to the Traffic Manager, and on presentation of certificates from the secretary to the conference, be allowed return tickets at excursion fares for themselves and their wives (if accompanying their husbands); if travelling from stations in Queensland to stations in other States where through fares are in operation, return tickets, available for one month only, at single fare for the double journey may be issued.

THEATRICAL COMPANIES.

Theatrical companies travelling between stations in Queensland, or to stations in the other States to which through fares are in operation, and consisting of not less than six passengers, including the advance agent, journeying not less than 20 miles, may, on application to the Traffic Manager, be allowed first-class tickets on payment of second-class ordinary fares, or second-class tickets for 20 per cent. less than ordinary second-class fares. The following weight of luggage will be conveyed free of charge:—For each first-class passenger, 2cwt.: for each second-class passenger, 1 cwt. Excess luggage to be charged parcels rates. Advance agents must pay ordinary fares in the first instance, but the station-master may allow the concession for their tickets by way of refund if not less than five tickets are afterwards purchased for the company they represent.

ATHLETIC BODIES.

Members of cricket, football, golf, lacrosse, lawn tennis, cycling, bands, or other approved athletic teams or clubs, when travelling between stations in Queensland not less than 20 miles and not more than 100 miles apart, may be allowed return tickets at excursion fares. When the distance exceeds 100 miles, return tickets at half return fares may be issued, but the half fare must not be less than 10s. When travelling from stations in Queensland to stations in New South Wales, Victoria, and South Australia, between which through fares are in operation, return tickets, available for one month, at single fare for the double journey may be issued. Application for these concessions must be made to the Traffic Manager. The maximum number of persons to be allowed the reduced fares when travelling as athletic teams shall be as follows:—Bowling teams 20, cricketers 15, baseball players 15, footballers 25, lacrosse players 15, rifle clubs 25, chess players 20, cyclists 20, debating societies 20, golf players 10, polo players 8, tennis players 10, draughts players 20, bandsmen, 30, quoit players 15. The minimum number in each instance will be six.

PRESS TICKETS.

A special return ticket at half the ordinary fare may, upon application to the Traffic Manager, be issued to any representative or reporter exclusively engaged in press business, and who is permanently employed upon a newspaper in Queensland or the Southern States, for the purpose of reporting on an agricultural show, race meeting, or other matter of general public interest, full particulars of which must always be given on the form of application.

NEWSPAPER REPORTERS.

Traffic Managers may, upon application, issue to the reporting staff of any newspaper published in Queensland, a season ticket, at one-fourth the ordinary rate, which ticket shall be available for use by any one reporter, who shall have been previously approved of by the Commissioner, but can only be used when the reporter is travelling on literary business.

PLEASURE PARTIES.

On any day other than a public holiday return tickets, at excursion fares, may, on application to the Traffic Manager, be issued to parties travelling not less than 20 miles, and consisting of not less than ten adult passengers.

One ticket only will be issued for each party, the members of which must all travel together and by the train arranged for.

Applications for these concessions must be made not less than three days before the excursion, and it must be certified that it is exclusively a pleasure party, and the date, class, number of passengers, and stations from and to which the tickets are required must be stated.

CYCLE PARTIES.

Cyclists when travelling in parties of not less than six may, if travelling between stations not less than 20 miles apart, on application to the Traffic Manager, obtain return tickets at excursion fares.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS' SAMPLES.

Commercial travellers' samples will be conveyed by passenger train at parcels rates on the forward journey, provided that there is room in the brake-van therefor and that the train will not thereby be delayed. Half parcels rates will be charged on the return journey on presentation of the receipt showing the forward carriage to have been paid, provided that 168lb. for a first-class passenger and 112lb for a second-class passenger, including personal luggage, will be carried free on the forward and return journey.

Between Sydney and Brisbane, 1½ cwt. of luggage for first-class passengers, and 1 cwt. for second-class passengers will be conveyed free of charge.

Commercial travellers' samples will be charged at third-class rates by goods trains on the forward journey, but will be carried free by goods train on the return journey on presentation of the report showing the forward carriage to have been paid.

The samples must be marked "Travellers' Samples," with the name or initials of the person or firm whom the traveller represents.

The journey of "Travellers' Samples," booked through from Brisbane to Gladstone, and vice versa, may be broken at Gympie, Maryborough, and Bundaberg, as desired, provided the freight be prepaid.

Commerical travellers will be allowed to deposit articles in cloak-rooms for periods not exceeding one day free of charge. Travellers requiring cloak-room tickets must pay for them at the usual rate.

Commercial travellers' samples on which freight has been paid from Brisbane to Charleville may be returned free of charge, by goods train from Longreach or Barcaldine to Rockhampton, on presentation of the receipts showing the forward carriage to have been paid.

DEMURRAGE.

When horse-boxes or carriage trucks are ordered for a given date, but are not loaded till a subsequent date, or not used by those for whom they were procured, a charge for demurrage of 10s. for each horse-box or carriage truck per day will be made, except when the freight for the forward journey is less than the demurrage charge, in which case the charge will be the same per day as if the horse-box or truck were used. When carriages are not unloaded within the time (twelve hours) allowed by the Department, a charge for demurrage of 10s. for each truck per day will be made.

GOLD DUST, GOLD AND SILVER BULLION AND COIN.

The Commissioner shall not be deemed to be a common carrier in respect of the carriage of gold or silver in bullion or coin, and will convey such only on the condition that it is consigned at the owner's risk.

The following rates will be charged therefor :—

50 miles and under	0 6	% on declared value.
51 to 100	1 0	„ „ „
101 to 200	1 6	„ „ „
201 to 300	2 0	„ „ „
301 to 400	2 6	„ „ „
401 to 500	3 0	„ „ „

And 6d. per cent. for every additional 100 miles or part thereof. Minimum charge, 6d.

Gold and silver coin, etc., up to £5,000 in value, sent in charge of an official in the permanent employ of a bank, company, or private firm will be carried free.

If the value of the consignment exceed £10,000 a small compartment will be reserved for the escort without extra charge.

The rates between Sydney and Brisbane will be 2s. 6d. per cent. on the value of bullion, and 1s. per cent on the value of coin—minimum charge, £20. Two bank officials travelling in charge will be allowed free of cost a reserved compartment and first-class return ticket; and if consignments are conveyed in opposite directions within three weeks for the same bank, and by the same officials, the miminum will be waived on the backward consignment and actual value only will be charged for.

Returned empty gold boxes will be conveyed free of charge.

PASSENGERS' LUGGAGE.

First-class passengers will be allowed free conveyance for 112lb. of personal luggage, i.e., wearing apparel and other personal necessaries required for the journey, and second-class passengers 84lb. Any excess of these quantities will be charged at parcels rates unless sent by goods train, when goods rates will be charged.

Photographers will be allowed to carry their camera and stand, and dentists professional requisites, if not weighing more than 28lb. in all, free of charge, and artisans' and mechanics' tools, and the riding saddle of a drover may be carried free, but the total weight, including personal luggage, in any case, must not exceed that allowed to passengers as above.

Passengers journeying by special excursion trains will be allowed to carry luggage up to half the weights already specified.

Any passenger may have packages of goods other than personal luggage carried in the same train by which he travels upon payment of the parcels rates, and by having the packages properly booked.

Luggage must be at the station fifteen minutes before the train is timed to start so as to allow sufficient time for weighing, labelling, and stowing.

Passengers must have their names, and the station to which they are proceeding, distinctly marked on their luggage, and should see that it is properly labelled. If through neglect of these precautions it is left behind and forwarded by a subsequent train, ordinary parcels rates will be charged. To prevent mistakes they should have all old labels removed.

No luggage will be allowed to be placed in the carriages unless it is of such a size as to admit of its being put under the seat or in the rack without inconvenience to other passengers; and luggage must not, in any circumstances, be placed on the seats.

All luggage kept at a station will be charged the usual cloak-room rates for each package, and the Commissioner reserves the right to sell the same if unclaimed after three months.

The Commissioner shall not be liable in respect of the luggage of any passenger, alleged to have been lost, unless it is shown that it was fully addressed, and that he delivered the same to an officer of the Commissioner and attended at the end of the journey at the guard's van to claim it.

BICYCLES, PERAMBULATORS, AND GO-CARTS.

Bicycles, perambulators, and go-carts shall be charged as follows :—

Accompanied by Owner :—13 miles and under 6d. each ; 14 to 25 miles, 1s.; 26 to 50 miles 1s. 6d.; 51 to 75 miles, 2s.; 76 to 101 miles, 2s. 6d.; 102 to 150 miles, 3s.; and 6d. each for every additional 50 miles or part thereof.

The freight must be prepaid, and the bicycles carried at owner's risk, otherwise double parcels rates must be charged.

Unaccompanied by owner :—Double parcels rates, except when packed in cases.

Accompanied or unaccompanied by owner :—Tandem bicycles shall be charged 50 per cent. more than the rate for ordinary bicycles. Triplet bicycles shall be charged double the rate for ordinary bicycles. Quadruple bicycles shall be charged four times the rate for ordinary bicycles

Bicycles packed in boxes or trunks, and labelled "commercial travellers' samples," will be treated the same as other commercial travellers' samples.

In the case of bicycle tickets, the journey may be broken in the same manner as with ordinary passenger tickets, provided the journey is at the same time broken by the owner of the bicycle.

TRICYCLES.

Tricycles shall be charged as follows :—

Accompanied by owner :—25 miles and under, 1s. 6d. each ; 26 miles to 50 miles, 2s.; 51 miles to 75 miles, 2s. 6d.; 76 miles to 101 miles, 3s.; and 6d. each for every additional 50 miles or part of 50 miles.

Unaccompanied by owner :—Double parcels rates, except when packed in cases. Motor tricycles shall be charged quadruple bicycle rates.

RESERVED CARRIAGES.

Compartments may be reserved, except on public holidays, provided sufficient notice is given to the station master at the terminal station, and that there is accommodation on the train, on payment of the following minimum charges, viz. :—Saloon compartment, ten first-class fares; small compartment, four first-class fares. The fares of each passenger travelling in a reserved compartment over the minimum number must be paid for.

Cloak-room Charges.

Parcels, and the personal luggage of any passenger by railway, may, for convenience, be deposited in the cloak-room of a railway station; but the Commissioner shall not be liable in respect of the loss of any parcel or luggage, for any claim in excess of the sum of £10, notwithstanding that the actual value of the parcel or luggage lost may be exceed that amount.

The following charges are payable for parcels and luggage deposited in cloak-rooms:—

Weight of Articles.	Deposited for Periods.
	24 hours and under.	Over 24 hours and not exceeding 48 hours.	Over 48 hours and not exceeding 7 days.	For every week or part of a week over 7 days.
	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.
Under 28 lb.	0 2	0 3	0 4	0 2
28 lb. and under 56 lb.	0 2	0 4	0 6	0 3
56 lb. and under 112 lb.	0 3	0 5	0 7	0 3
112 lb. and under 224 lb.	0 4	0 6	0 8	0 4

These charges must be paid to the officer in charge of the cloak-room, from whom persons, on depositing parcels, will obtain a ticket, which must indicate the number of parcels deposited, the name of the depositor, and the amount paid.

These tickets are printed in duplicate, bound up in book form, and numbered in regular arithmetical progression. The information contained in each ticket when issued must be shown in the butt of the book retained in the cloak-room.

Parcels so deposited will be given up on production of the ticket issued to the depositor, and on payment of any overtime charges that may be due, for which latter a separate ticket, marked "Overtime charges," must be given to the depositor.

Special cloak-room tickets, printed in triplicate forms, will, on application to the Commissioner, be issued to storekeepers, drapers, and others for use at railway station. One part of the ticket is to be affixed to the parcel, the duplicate handed to the owner for presentation at the cloak-room when demanding the parcel, and the triplicate portion sent with the parcel to the cloak-room to be there signed by the officer in charge as evidence of the parcel having been deposited.

The delivery of a parcel on presentation of the duplicate ticket issued to the owner shall release the Commissioner of all responsibility in connection therewith; and the possession of the duplicate ticket by the officer in charge of the cloak-room shall be considered prima facie evidence that the parcel or parcels mentioned therein have been correctly delivered.

Special Trains.

Special trains may, whenever practicable, be run upon application to the nearest Traffic Manager; but no special train shall be run on Sunday except in cases of extreme emergency and on payment of 25 per cent. extra.

The charges payable in respect of special trains shall be 5s. per mile (with a minimum charge of £5), in addition to the full fares of all passengers. travelling by the train, and the full rates payable in respect of horses, carriages, or goods conveyed thereby.

When a special train returns within twelve hours from the time of its arrival at its destination the charges for the return journey will be one-half of the fares and rates abovementioned, and one-half the mileage rates.

Horses and Carriages.

Horses and carriages will be carried on all Government lines at the following rates, and subject to the conditions prescribed in the Railway Goods Traffic By-law in force for the time being.

Persons requiring horse-boxes should, to prevent disappointment, give timely notice thereof to the station-master. If required at intermediate stations at least two days' notice should be given.

Horses and vehicles should be at stations thirty minutes before the departure of the train by which they are to be despatched; but the Department will not guarantee to forward them by any particular time or train.

Persons desirous of forwarding horses will require to sign a consignment note in the prescribed form, to provide headstalls, halters, or other necessary gear for securing the horses during the journey, and to pay a deposit of 10s. on each horse-box ordered.

Horses must be loaded by the sender, and unloaded within three hours after arrival by the consignees, otherwise they may be unloaded by the officers of the Commissioner at a charge of 2s. for each horse.

Horse-gear carried in horse-boxes will be at the owner's risk.

The Commissioner will not be responsible for any loss of, or damage whatsoever to, horses whilst upon railway premises or wagons, unless such loss or damage has been occasioned by neglect on the part of railway employees, but under no circumstances will the Commissioner be liable to pay any claim for the loss of or damage to any horse, in excess of £25.

Horses must be removed from the railway premises immediately after being unloaded, otherwise they may be sent to agistment or livery at the owner's risk and expense, the costs of which must be paid by the owner on demand as part of the authorised charges; and if not released within seven days they may be sold by auction by order of the Commissioner, and the proceeds applied in payment of all expenses incurred, and the balance handed to the owner or consignee.

Persons sending carriages, buggies, carts, &c., may also forward lamps, cushions, and other loose articles belonging thereto, but must do so at their own risk, as the Commissioner will not accept any responsibility unless the articles are booked separately and paid for.

PARCELS, &c.

Stamped parcels (prepaid) will be carried on all Government railway lines within the State at the rates provided in the following table. Unstamped parcels shall be charged 25 per cent. additional, except interstate parcels rebooked from Wallangarra to stations in Queensland, or for prepaid parcels between stations on the Mackay and McGregor's Creek, Townsville and Ayr, and Cairns and Chillagoe Railways. All parcels are subject to the same conditions as are prescribed for the carriage of goods under the Railway Goods Traffic By-Law in force for the time being :—

CASH ON DELIVERY PARCEL SYSTEM.

On and after the 1st September this Department undertake to forward booked parcels to Railway stations on the Southern and Central Railways, where Station Masters are in charge, and collect the money value of the contents as declared by the sender.

The system will be designated "CASH ON DELIVERY" Parcels.

Firms wishing to forward a C.O.D. Parcel, must consign the parcel in the ordinary way, pay the freight (booked) charges and a commission at the rate of four pence in the pound (minimum charge 4d) on the declared value of the contents, which declaration must be clearly and fully written on the consignment note. Senders must also state on the consignment note the date they wish the parcel returned in the event of its being unclaimed. A special label provided for the purpose must be pasted by the sender on each parcel, setting forth the name of the sender, the sending station, the name of the Consignee and destination, and the date to be returned if unclaimed. A supply of these labels may be obtained on application at Brisbane stations.

The Commissioner will not be liable for loss of, or injury to, a C.O.D. Parcel over £10 in value, unless the value has been declared, and the special risk rates, provided in Clause 69 of the Coaching Classification, have been paid.

Should a C.O.D. Parcel be not claimed by the Consignee within the time specified by the sender on the Consignment Note, it will be returned to the sending station and charged at half the ordinary booked parcel rates.

A monthly settlement will be made by the Department with senders of the amounts collected from Consignees under this arrangement.

RATES FOR HORSES IN HORSE BOXES.

One horse, 6d. per mile up to 100 miles ; 5d. per mile for 101 to 200 miles added to the charge for 100 miles, and 4d. per mile above 200 added to the charge for 200 miles. Minimum charges, 7s. 6d.

Two horses belonging to same owner in same horse-box, 4½d. each per mile up to 100 miles, and 4d. each per mile for 101 to 200 miles added to the charge for 100 miles, and 3d. each per mile above 200 added to the 200 miles charge. Minimum charge, 12s. 6d.

Three horses belonging to the same owner in the same horse-box, 4d. each per mile up to 200 miles, and 3d. each per mile above 200 miles added to the 200 mile rate. Minimum charge, 15s.

An entire will be charged as two horses; but the owner will have the privilege of loading another horse belonging to himself in the same box, at his own risk, without extra charge.

If a three-stall horse-box be specially ordered for one or two entires, the charge will be the same as for three horses.

A mare and foal at foot will be charged 25 per cent. more than the rate for one horse.

Racehorses and polo ponies, in horse-boxes, will be charged ordinary rates to race or polo meetings, and will be conveyed free on the return journey, provided they are unsold and are being returned to the original forwarding station within one month of the dates trucked on the forward journey, and that a certificate to that effect is handed in with the horses by the Secretary of the Club at whose meeting the horses were raced.

Stallions travelling as racehorses and not requiring a box each will be charged ordinary rates each way.

Grooms or jockeys accompanying racehorses and travelling in horse-boxes will be charged second-class fares.

CONVEYANCE OF PARCELS BY MAIL COACHES.

It has been agreed between the Postal and Railway Departments that when parcels intended for delivery at townships, etc., beyond the railway line are conveyed as far as they can be by rail, they may be sent to the nearest postmaster, in the vehicle conveying the mails, to be forwarded through parcel post, and the postage collected on delivery to consignee. The Postal Department will not insist on prepayment of the postage on parcels received from the railway, but will not pay any railway charge.

This regulaton does not apply to parcels exceeding 11lb. in weight or to parcels which, on account of their size or contents, the postmaster must, in accordance with the parcel post regulations, refuse to accept.

STAMPED PARCELS.

The following are the regulations under which stamped parcels are carried on all Government railways within the State:—

SPECIAL REGULATIONS FOR ISSUE OF ADHESIVE PARCELS STAMPS.

(A) Adhesive parcel stamps, similar to postage stamps, will be issued at railway stations and gates where officials are in charge.

(B) When a package such as fish, butter, eggs, milk, cream, fresh meat, &c., &c., will not allow a stamp to properly adhere, a label must be secured to the package, on which the stamp can be properly affixed.

(C) When the stamps affixed are not of the full value for the weight or distance according to table of rates, and the sender omits or refuses to affix the additional stamps necessary, the stamp may either be cancelled and the parcel forwarded and surcharged at destination, or the Commissioner may refuse to forward the same.

(D) All stamped parcels except stamped newspaper parcels must be booked.

All parcels must, to admit of their being booked, be at stations fifteen minutes before the advertised time of departure of the train by which they are required to be forwarded. The Commissioner will not be liable for the loss of any parcel which is not booked.

When two or more parcels are consigned to the same person the parcels rate will be charged on each separate parcel, except in the case of newspapers, fish, fruit, ice, fresh meat, bread, butter in boxes, and vegetables, which will be charged as for the gross weight, provided always that when the weight thereof exceeds 1 cwt. the charge for each succeeding hundredweight or part thereof shall not be in excess of the rate for the first hundredweight.

Packed parcels—i.e., parcels addressed to separate consignees, and packed in hampers, crates, bags, or other packages—will be charged quadruple rates, and the onus of proving that the parcels are not packed will rest with consignees or consignors.

Parcels conveyed by passenger trains shall, if not removed from the Parcels Office on arrival, be subjected to the same charges for storage as if deposited in a cloak-room.

The Commissioner will not be liable for the loss of or injury to any parcel when the value exceeds £10, unless at the time of delivery thereof at the station for the purpose of being carried, the value and contents of the parcel have been declared by the person delivering the same, and a special risk rate has been paid to and accepted by the officer in charge.

The following are the special risk rates which are payable in addition to the carriage rates:—

	Per cent. on declared value above £10.		Minimum Charge.

Registration.—Any letter, letter card, post card, packet, or newspaper, complying with the Regulations relating thereto, and bearing the registration fee of 3d. in addition to the correct amount of postage shall be accepted for registration. The registration of an article renders its transmission much more secure, and the loss of a registered article is a very rare occurrence; the public are advised to register all articles containing anything of an important nature, and when sending bank notes, drafts, etc., to take note of the numbers and other particulars thereof.

Articles intended for registration should on no account be dropped into a pillar-receiver or posting-box, but must be presented at a post or receiving office during ordinary office hours, and a receipt for same obtained on the proper form.

Where any postmaster or officer of the Post Office has reasonable cause to believe that any unregistered letter or packet contains any valuable enclosure other than money orders or bills of exchange, acceptances, or promissory notes payable to order, cheques, or postal notes or postage stamps not exceeding five shillings in value, such postmaster or officer may register such letter or packet, and charge it with double the prescribed fee for registration, and the sum to be so paid shall be written on such letter or packet by the postmaster or officer of the Post Office who registers the same, and such fee shall be paid by the person to whom it is addressed before delivery, unless such person, before delivery, opens the letter in the presence of some postmaster or officer of the Post Office, and it is found not to contain any valuable enclosure, in which case such fee shall not be charged. Poisons must also be registered in Queensland.

The sender of a registered article may obtain an acknowledgment of its due delivery to the addressee or other person to whom it is delivered by paying in advance, at the time of registration, a fee of 2½d. in addition to the postage and registration fee.

The sender must enter, in the form provided for the purpose, both his own name and address, and the name and address of the person to whom the article is sent, and he must also affix to the form in payment of the fee, a postage stamp of the value of 2½., which the postmaster or other officer should cancel in the ordinary way.

Post Office Express Delivery Service by Telegraph Messengers.

Letters and packets not exceeding 8 ounces in weight may be specially delivered as follows, namely:—

(1) By special messenger all the way.—To secure this service, letters and packets must be handed in at an "Express Delivery" Post Office. The fee is 4d. per mile for the first mile, and thereafter 2d. per half-mile up to 2 miles, with a minimum of 5d. including postage.

(2) By special messenger after transmission by post.—For this service a letter or packet may be posted at any post or receiving office, or in any letter-box or posting receptacle, and be "expressed" on reaching the delivery office, providing such office is an express delivery office. The fee of 4d. in addition to the ordinary postage must be prepaid by affixed postage stamps.

(3) By special delivery in advance of the ordinary delivery by postman.—By this means any person may make an arrangement with the postmaster of any express delivery office to secure the immediate delivery of his own correspondence on its arrival. Letters or packets must not weigh more than 8oz. each, or 4lb. in the aggregate, and the full express fee of 4d. a mile or fraction of a mile must be paid for one article, and ½d. for every additional article beyond the first.

(4) Special delivery by travelling mail officers at all railway stations where the mail trains are timed to stop without passing through the local post office or waiting local delivery. The delivery fee of 4d. must be affixed by postal stamp together with the ordinary postage and the usual late fee, and letters or packets so stamped may be accepted by any travelling mail officer for delivery at any railway platform where the mail train is timed to stop.

EXPRESS DELIVERY OFFICES IN QUEENSLAND.—Albion, Bowen, Brisbane, Bundaberg, Cairns, Charleville, Charters Towers, Cooktown, Croydon, Dalby, Fortitude Valley, Gladstone, Gympie, Ipswich, Mackay, Maryborough, Mount Morgan, Normanton, One-mile, Petrie Terrace, Queenton, Rockhampton, Roma, Sandgate, South Brisbane, Southport, Toowong, Toowoomba, Townsville, Warwick, Woolloongabba, and such other offices as the Deputy Postmaster-General may from time to time appoint.

NEWSPAPERS.

Definition of Newspaper and Supplement.

A newspaper shall mean any publication known and recognised as a newspaper in the generally accepted sense of the word, and printed and published within the Commonwealth for sale if—

(a) it consists in substantial part of news and articles relating to current topics, or of religious, technical, or practical information; and (b) it is published in numbers at intervals of not more than one month; and (c) the full title and date of publication are printed at the top of the first page, and the whole or part of the title and the date of publication are printed at the top of every subsequent page.

A publication printed on paper and issued as a supplement to a newspaper shall be deemed to be a supplement and to be part of the newspaper if—

(a) it consists in substantial part of reading matter other than advertisements, or of engravings, prints, lithographs, or coloured supplements; and (b) it is enclosed in each posted copy of the newspaper with which it is issued; and (c) it has the title of the newspaper with which it is issued printed on the top of each page of letterpress; and (d) it is not of a size or form which makes it inconvenient for carriage or delivery by post.

Registration of Newspapers.

The proprietor, printer, or publisher of any newspaper, as defined by Section 28 of the Post and Telegraph Act, 1901, may register it at the General Post Office of any State subject to the following conditions:—

(a) The application for registration must be made in writing. (b) It must contain a description of the newspaper to be registered, and show at what intervals the same is or is intended to be published. (c) It must be accompanied by a copy of the newspaper to be registered, and a fee of 5s.

The Deputy Postmaster-General of such State may from time to time, subject to appeal (as to which see Guide) revise the register, and may call upon the proprietor, printer, or publisher of any publication, a posted copy of which contains indecent or obscene matter, or which by reason of the proportion of advertisements to other matter therein or for any other reason is not within the foregoing definition, to show cause why such publication should not be removed from the register, and if sufficient cause be not shown he may remove it accordingly, and any publication for the time being on the register shall be deemed a registered newspaper. Publishers of registered newspapers are required to print on the first page of each copy issued the words "Registered at the General Post Office, , for transmission by post as a newspaper."

No publication which after the expiration of one month from the 1st December, 1901, is tendered for transmission at any Post Office in the Commonwealth shall be sent by post as a newspaper unless the foregoing provisions have been complied with.

Any proposed change in the form of a newspaper must be submitted for the consideration of the Deputy Postmaster-General.

Any Deputy Postmaster-General may refuse to transmit or deliver any issue of a publication if such issue contains indecent or obscene matter.

Any posted newspaper found to contain indecent or obscene matter may be destroyed by order of the Postmaster-General.

A copy of each issue of every registered newspaper in Queensland must be sent to the Deputy Postmaster-General, at Brisbane, and it shall not be necessary to prepay such copies.

All unregistered or irregularly-posted newspapers, and all newspapers having any matter which is not a supplement accompanying them, shall be treated as packets.

General Regulations.

A newspaper may be sent either with or without a cover but must be open at both ends, and there shall not be in or upon any such newspaper or the cover thereof any communication, character, figure, letter, or number (other than the words "newspaper only"; or a line drawn through any report, article, or paragraph therein; the printed title of such newspaper, the printed names, occupations, and places of business of the printer, publisher, and vendor thereof, the name, occupation, and address of the person to whom it is sent and the name of the person who sends the same), nor shall anything other than a supplement be enclosed in, or with, or accompany such newspaper or cover, otherwise such newspaper shall not be transmitted or delivered.

Provided always that any newspaper bearing on the cover or outside of the fold, any printed matter, not permitted for newspapers, may be transmitted at the rate charged for "printed papers."

If a newspaper addressed to any place within the Commonwealth be found to contain writing or any illegal enclosure, it must be forwarded to the Deputy Postmaster-General with a report of the circumstances; but if the newspaper be addressed to any place beyond the Commonwealth, it shall be sent to the Dead Letter Office.

Newspapers except those forwarded in bulk, addressed to several persons, to be delivered separately at each address, must not be tied up in bundles, and each newspaper must bear the proper postage.

Two or more newspapers to the same address can be tied together, but the outside newspaper or wrapper must bear on its face or addressed side the full postage for each paper, and the parcel should be tied so that the number of papers can be counted.

Newspapers (not being those forwarded in bulk) made up in packets bearing the same address can be transmitted at printed-paper rate of postage, but the weight of any such packet must not exceed 5lb.

Collected numbers of a newspaper shall not be transmitted through the post as a single newspaper, but postage must be paid on each copy contained therein.

When, owing to a great influx of newspapers, the transmission or delivery of letters would be delayed if the whole were dealt with without distinction, newspapers may be kept back until a later despatch or delivery.

Newspaper contents bills are not admissible at newspaper rate, but must be paid for at packet rate. They may, however, if properly addressed and having the requisite postage affixed, be placed under the string of the bundle of newspapers to which they refer, thus securing their delivery with the newspapers.

PACKETS.

Packets may consist of Commercial Papers, Printed Papers, or Patterns, Samples, and Merchandise as hereinafter defined.

Commercial Papers.

Commercial papers include all papers and documents not wholly printed, which have not the character of actual or personal correspondence, such as—Acceptances, accounts, invoices, receipts, bankers' packets, bank pass-books, or pass-books or cards connected with a Society, bills of exchange, bills of lading, drafts, copies of telegrams used as vouchers, drawings (not wholly printed), examination paper (corrections allowed), insurance documents (policies, etc.), invoices, legal documents (affidavits, briefs, deeds, depositions, etc.), manuscript or forms filled up in writing for printing or publication, maps (not wholly printed), music (written), notice of meetings, obliterated postage stamps, paysheets, plans (not wholly printed), prices current, promissory-notes signed or unsigned, proxy forms or notices, rate notices, receipts, returns or periodical statements, Savings Bank forms forwarded from a public department, Savings Bank acknowledgments closed or open, scrip, ships' manifests, specifications, spent letters (that is, letters which have clearly served their original purpose, and are at least two months old), stock sheets, travellers' cards, circulars or orders, travelling stock notices, way-bills, and other similar articles.

Printed Papers of all kinds except Newspapers

Printed papers include all printed matter (except newspapers), such as books, magazines, pamphlets, sheets of music, visiting cards, address cards, circulars (wholly printed), proofs of printing, papers impressed with points in relief for the use of the blind, engravings, photographs, and albums containing photographs, pictures, drawings, plans, maps, catalogues, prospectuses, announcements, and notices of various kinds, and similar articles, whether loose or in book form. Printed patterns usually sent in or with a magazine or journal of fashion printed in the Commonwealth of Australia from type set up therein, or from stereotyped plates made therefrom, may be considered as part of such magazine or journal.

The following may also be allowed to pass as printed papers, viz.:—Circulars which are in other respects admissible, but which are printed or lithographed in characters resembling those of the type-writer, or are produced by means of any mechanical process from written or typewritten originals, may be transmitted at the "Printed Papers" rate of postage, provided they are handed in at the counter of a Post Office, and at least twenty copies precisely identical are posted at the same time. Each cover must be marked by the sender "20 posted."

All printed matter with written additions, corrections, or alterations must be sent as commercial papers, but writing in the nature of a letter or personal communication is not permissible, and if any such writing appear on the article the latter may be charged as an insufficiently prepaid letter.

Cards bearing the inscription "Post Card" shall not be allowed to pass as printed papers.

Patterns, Samples, and Merchandise.

The following and similar articles may be forwarded under this class, viz.:—Glass, merchandise, mineral specimens, natural history specimens (such as dried or preserved animals or plants, geological specimens, etc., when sent for no commercial purpose), liquids, oils, and fatty substances, ointment, soft soap, resin, dry powders, whether dyes or not, paper, parchment or vellum, patterns, live bees and live but harmless entomological specimens, samples, seeds, wedding cake (securely packed). Patterns and samples may contain the name and commercial style of the sender, the address of the person for whom they are intended, the manufacturer's or trade mark, numbers, prices, and indications relative to weight or measurement and dimensions, or to the quantity to be disposed of, or such as are necessary to determine the origin and the nature of the goods.

General Packet Regulations.

The maximum weight for a packet of commercial papers or printed papers shall be 5lb.; and for patterns, samples, and merchandise, 1lb. No packet may exceed 2 feet in length, or 1 foot in depth or breadth, or if in a roll 2 feet 6 inches in length, or be of inconvenient form.

Wholly unpaid or insufficient prepaid packets posted in the Commonwealth for delivery therein may be forwarded to destination charged with double the deficiency.

A packet may be sent through the post either without a cover (when it must not be fastened with anything adhesive), or in a cover entirely open at one end or side, or with the flap left unsealed, or fastened with a binder, or tied with string, so as to permit of easy withdrawal of the contents.

PRIVATE MAIL BAGS.

A private mail bag may be made up for any person, or for a number of persons, residing on a mail route, but beyond a mile from a post office, subject to the following Regulations:—

1. The charge for making up a private bag shall be £2 per annum, payable in advance.
2. Payments must be arranged so that renewal fees fall due on the 1st January in each year; new subscribers to pay the proportion of fee at the annual rate from the first day of the quarter in which they commence to the end of December following.
3. The bag, which must be of leather or strong canvas, must be provided at the cost of the person requiring it, and be large enough to contain all articles sent and received by post; if furnished with a lock, two keys must be provided—one for the postmaster and the other for the owner.
4. The postmaster must lock or seal the bag for despatch, and it must be returned in like manner; if a seal is used, the impression must be made known to the postmaster.
5. The bag may contain postal articles for all persons in the employ of the proprietor, or who, with the written consent of the proprietor of the bag, give written authority to the postmaster to enclose them in such bag. The person who pays for the bag shall be responsible for the unpaid postage on all postal articles contained in the bag. He must furnish receipts for such of its contents as may have been registered, and forward to the post office acknowledgments of delivery, duly signed by the addressees. The proprietor of the bag must return all correspondence for persons who have left his station or place, and also any letters, etc., enclosed in error. Every bag must have printed upon it, or upon a leather or metal label, securely attached to the bag, the name of the owner, or the place where it is to be delivered, as well as the name of the post office with which it is exchanged. When a bag is made up for a number of persons the name of one of the number, to whom the bag may be addressed, must be specified. Telegrams enclosed in a private bag may be transmitted free of postage; but other correspondence so enclosed and intended for delivery at the township where the bag is opened or for onward despatch, must bear the correct amount of postage payable thereon.
6. In case of non-payment of postage or detention of receipts or acknowledgments for registered articles, the postmaster may decline to forward any more articles of those classes.
7. A contractor is bound to convey and deliver, free of charge, all private bags given him by the postmaster or under his instruction, but he is not required to deviate from the usual mail route or road, unless instructed by the Deputy Postmaster-General, and must on no account be delayed. Should the return bag not be ready at the appointed time and place, the contractor must not wait for it.

Private Boxes.

Locked Private Boxes may be rented at the General Post Office, and where provided at other post offices, on payment, in advance, of a fee of £1, £2, or £3 per annum, according to the size of box required. Payments must be arranged so that renewal fees fall due on the 1st January in each year; new subscribers to pay the proportion of fee at the annual rate from the first day of the quarter in which they commence to the end of December following. Two keys shall be supplied with each box, but a fee of 1s. shall be charged for the use of each additional key supplied, and keys must not be obtained elsewhere than from the Department. On a box-holder relinquishing the use of a box he shall be required to, at once, return all keys supplied to him, as they are the property of the Postmaster-General, otherwise he shall be charged the rental fee for the box until they are returned. If a key be lost, information must at once be given to the officer in charge of the local post office and the remaining key or keys returned to such officer when a new lock, for which a charge of 5s. shall be made, will be fitted in the box, and two keys supplied. The Postmaster-General may refuse to let a private box to any person or persons, and may cancel the tenancy of a private box at any time, if he considers such box is intended to be, or is being used for objectionable purposes. Private boxes shall be let only on the foregoing conditions, and upon any breach thereof the Postmaster-General may at once withdraw permission for the use of a box.

NOTE.—It materially facilitates the sorting, and consequently the delivery, of correspondence when it bears as portion of the address the number of the box. The Postmaster-General, therefore, invites the assistance and co-operation of correspondents and box-holders in this regard.

PARCELS POST.

LIMIT OF WEIGHT AND SIZE.—Parcels not exceeding 11lb. in weight, 3 feet 6 inches in length, or 6 feet in length and girth combined, may be accepted for transmission from and to all Parcel Post Offices in the Commonwealth, served by railway, coach, or steamboat. Parcels from or to Parcel Post Offices within the Commonwealth, not served by railway, coach, or steamboat, must not exceed 3lb. in weight; should a parcel be received exceeding that weight addressed to a place to which it is not transmissible, it must be forwarded to the nearest Parcel Post Office on the mail route, served by railway, coach, or steamboat, and the addressee be duly advised thereof. The Inland Parcel Post is not at present in operation in Western Australia, and parcels are only conveyed by horse services in Queensland or South Australia.

Parcels exceeding 11lb. in weight or of greater dimensions than those prescribed shall not be accepted for transmission through the post. Any such parcels which may be irregularly posted must not be forwarded to destination, but, if practicable, returned to the sender.

The postage must be fully prepaid by means of adhesive postage stamps, which the sender or person handing in the parcel must affix either close to the address on the wrapper, or to a label, obtainable at any post office. If the contents of a parcel be of a fragile nature, or postage stamps will not readily adhere to the wrapper, such stamps must be affixed to a tie-on label attached to the parcel. Postal officials must not affix postage stamps to the labels or covers of parcels.

In addition to the name and address of the person for whom it is intended, every parcel must bear the name and address of the sender on the wrapper thus:—From of

The contents of parcels must be securely packed and closed in such a manner as to preserve them from injury and from injuring other parcels. Parcels containing—must be so securely packed as to prevent the contents from escaping and the covers or vessels in which they are enclosed must be sufficiently strong to prevent breakage in transmission. The word "Fragile" or "Perishable," as the case may be, and the nature of the covering or vessel, and contents, must be indorsed on the outer wrapper. The edges and points of all sharp instruments must be protected, and articles which are likely to injure other articles must be packed in separate parcels. When considered necessary by the Postmaster-General, hermetically-sealed tins, and wooden packing-boxes, with a sufficient quantity of absorbent matter, must be used.

The wrappers of parcels which have become torn or damaged in transit must be made as secure as practicable. If the address of any parcel be rendered illegible, such parcel must, if possible, be returned to the sender.

A parcel intended for transmission by parcel post must not be posted in a posting box or pillar, but must be handed in at a parcel post office, and the officer to whom it is handed must check the weight, size, and postage, before accepting it; if it be not fully prepaid, or exceed the limit of weight or size it must not be accepted.

Where satisfactory arrangements can be made, parcels shall be delivered as addressed. At all other parcel post offices notice shall be given to addressees, and delivery must be taken at the Parcel Post Office. In all cases senders must advise addressees by post of despatch of parcels, so as to insure prompt delivery.

A receipt must be given by the addressee or his agent before delivery of a parcel. In the case of roadside delivery, addressees may authorise a mailman to receive and sign for their parcels at the parcel post office nearest to their address; but any such authority must be in writing, with the name of the mailman inserted.

If the sender of a parcel posted for delivery within the Commonwealth apply for its return to him prior to its despatch from the office at which it was posted, such parcel shall be handed back without charge, but the postage paid thereon shall not be refunded. If, after its despatch from the office at which posted, but before delivery to the addressee, the sender applies for the return of a parcel, the request must, if possible, be complied with, but before it is handed back to him, the sender must pay half postage at the fully prepaid rate, but not less than 6d. together with the cost of telegram of advice, if one has been required, and any other charges due on such parcel.

The following shall be the rates of postage charged on inland and interstate parcels, viz.:—

Destination.	Rates of Postage.
	On a Parcel not Exceeding—
	1 lb.	2 lb.	3 lb.	4 lb.	5 lb.	6 lb.	7 lb.	8 lb.	9 lb.	10 lb.	11 lb.
	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.
Inland	0 6	0 9	1 0	1 3	1 6	1 9	0	2 3	2 6	2 9	3 0
Interstate	0 8	1 2	1 8	2 2	2 8	3 2	8	4 2	4 8	5 2	5 8

Opening of Parcels and Examination of Contents.—Parcels may be opened and examined by Postal Officers, but after so opening the examining officer must securely refasten them. In the case of parcels from places beyond the State of destination, their contents may be examined by the Customs officers in the parcel post office, and, where duties are payable, the same must be paid before the parcels are delivered. Parcels may, however, be forwarded in bond to places where Customs officers are stationed, to be opened in the presence of such officers, who must collect and account for any duty payable on them. Parcels, the contents of which are not dutiable, must be forwarded at once to the Parcel Post Office nearest to destination. The necessary Customs entries will be passed free of cost to the addressees of parcels received.

Money Orders.

Money orders shall be issued and paid as under:—

At the Chief Money Order Office of each State—Monday to Friday, 9.30 a.m. to 3.30 p.m.; Saturday, 9.30 a.m. to noon. At all other money order offices within the Commonwealth daily, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; but offices may be opened and closed at other hours when deemed necessary by the Postmaster-General.

The rates of commission chargeable for the issue of money orders shall be:—

If payable in the State of issue for sums not exceeding £5, 6d.; exceeding £5 but not exceeding £10, 1s.; exceeding £10 but not exceeding £15, 1s. 6d.; exceeding £15 but not exceeding £20, 2s. If payable in other Australian States, New Zealand, and Fiji, for sums not exceeding £2, 6d.; exceeding £2 but not exceeding £5, 1s.; exceeding £5 but not exceeding £7, 1s. 6d.; exceeding £7 but not exceeding £10, 2s.; exceeding £10 but not exceeding £12, 2s. 6d.; exceeding £12 but not exceeding £15, 3s.; exceeding £15 but not exceeding £17, 3s. 6d.; exceeding £17 but not exceeding £20, 4s. If payable in the United Kingdom, other British Possessions, and Foreign Countries, 6d. for each pound or fraction of a pound.

Applications for money orders must be in writing, and must contain the information necessary to insure payment of the proper person. The Christian names at full length must be furnished if possible, not merely the initials. The usual designation of a corporation, company, society, firm, official title, etc., will suffice as remittee or payee. The name of the State, or Country, in addition to the town where payment is desired, must be stated, as towns of the same name exist in different parts of the world, such as Bristol, Croydon, Campbelltown, Gladstone, Ipswich, Maitland, Maryborough, Newcastle, Perth, Richmond, Queenstown, Wellington, etc. The address of the remitter must also be furnished in order that he may be communicated with if necessary. Forms of application may be obtained at any money order office.

No single order payable in the Commonwealth, Canada, Germany, or the United States of America may be issued for more than £20; in India, New Zealand, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, Natal, Transvaal, Hongkong and its agencies, Japan and Fiji, the limit is £40; to all other places the limit is £10. Two or more orders may be obtained when it is desired to remit larger amounts. No order may contain a fraction of a penny.

Postal Notes.

Postal Notes may be obtained at the Chief Money Order Office, Monday to Friday, 9.30 a.m. to 3.30 p.m.; Saturday, 9.30 a.m. to noon At the Stamps Sales Office, and General Post Office in each State, during office hours when the Money Order Office is closed. At most post offices in the Commonwealth, during the hours they are open for the sale of stamps.

They shall be payable at all postal note offices, during the hours the latter are open for the transaction of business.

The denominations of postal notes issued, and the commission or poundage charged thereon shall be as follow:—

Denomination	Commission or Poundage.	Denomination	Commission or Poundage.
1s.	½d.	4s. 6d.	1d.
1s. 6d.	½d.	5s.	1½d.
2s.	1d.	7s. 6d.	2d.
2s. 6d.	1d.	10s.	3d.
3s.	1d.	10s. 6d.	3d.
3s. 6d.	1d.	15s.	3d.
4s.	1d.	20s.	3d.

The value of the notes have been so arranged that any sum of shillings and sixpences up to £1 can be remitted by not more than two of these notes.

Broken amounts not exceeding 5d. (but no fractions of a penny) may be added by affixing unobliterated and unperforated postage stamps of the State of issue to the face of a note, when the value of the notes and stamps together will be paid.

The name of the person to whom it is desired payment shall be made may be inserted in the space provided for that purpose in which case the note must be receipted by such person, and if it be presented for payment by any other person he must also receipt the note. The name of a money order or postal note office at which it is desired payment shall be made may be inserted, when (except as mentioned below) the postal note shall be payable at that office only.

A postal note may be crossed (like a cheque), when it shall be paid only through a bank. A note so crossed may be paid at any money order or postal note office in the Commonwealth, notwithstanding that the name of an office other than that at which it is presented has been inserted. Notes so crossed must, besides being signed by the payee, be presented by a bank official and bear an impression of the bank's stamp.

If the spaces for name of payee and paying office be not filled up, or if the note be made payable to "Bearer," the value thereof may be paid at any money order or postal note office in the Commonwealth, on the person by whom it is presented duly receipting the same.

After a postal note has been paid, by whomsoever presented, the Postmaster-General shall not be liable for any further claim.

After the expiration of six months from the last day of the month of issue, a postal note shall be cashed only at the General Post Office of the State of issue and on payment of a commission equal to the amount of the original poundage, for each period of six months, or portion thereof, beyond the first six months from month of issue; the amount of such commission must be affixed in unobliterated and unperforated postage stamps of the State to the face of the note. A postal note presented for payment after six months from the month of issue shall not be paid until reference has been made to the Chief Money Order Office of the State.

If a postal note contain any alteration or erasure, or be cut, defaced, or mutilated, payment may be refused.

No stamp duty is charged on any postal note issued or paid within the Commonwealth.

TELEGRAPHIC INFORMATION.

HOURS OF BUSINESS.—Telegraph offices shall be open to the public during the hours following:—

At Brisbane Head Office from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Saturdays 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. At most other offices from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and at the more important offices from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m., except Saturdays.

Prepaid telegrams may be dropped into the box provided at each telegraph station for that purpose, at any time when the office is closed, and shall be transmitted when business is resumed. Such telegrams, with full fee, must be enclosed in sealed envelopes. If the full amount payable for the transmission of a telegram be not enclosed the latter shall be forwarded to its destination, but the addressee shall be required to pay, before delivery, the amount short-paid, together with the cost of the necessary instructions to the delivering office to collect the amount of deficiency.

Scale of Charges.

ORDINARY TELEGRAMS.—Town and Suburban, within prescribed limits, or within fifteen miles from the sending station, including address and signature—Not exceeding sixteen words, 6d.; each additional, word 1d. Other places within the State except Town and Suburban, including address and signature—Not exceeding sixteen words, 9d.; each additional word, 1d. Interstate—i.e., from any one State to any other State, including address and signature—Not exceeding sixteen words, 1s.; each additional word, 1d.

On telegrams from and to Tasmania the charges to be those mentioned above, with cable charges of ½d. per word added.

PRESS TELEGRAMS.—Within any State—Not exceeding twenty-five words, 6d.; exceeding twenty-five but not exceeding fifty words, 9d.; exceeding fifty but not exceeding one hundred words, 1s. 6d.; every additional fifty words, 6d. Interstate—i.e., from any one State to any other State—Not exceeding twenty-five words, 1s.; exceeding twenty-five but not exceeding fifty words, 1s. 6d.; exceeding fifty but not exceeding one hundred words, 3s.; every additional fifty words or portion of fifty words, 1s. Witnin the Commonwealth.—Relating to Parliamentary, Executive, Departmental, and other Commonwealth Proceedings as may be prescribed—Not exceeding twenty-five words, 1s.; exceeding twenty-five but not exceeding one hundred words, 1s. 6d.; every additional fifty words or portion of fifty words, 6d.

On telegrams from and to Tasmania the charges to be those mentioned above with cable charges added, which are as follows:—1s. for every 100 words, and 6d. for each additional 50.

NEW ZEALAND.—Ordinary: For each word (address and signature counted), 4½d. Government: For each word (address and signature counted), 3d. Press (via Pacific or Eastern): Cable charges, 1d. per word; New Zealand Line, 6d. every hundred words or portion thereof; Commonwealth charges, ten words or under, 6d.; each additional word up to thirty-three, ½d. per word; over thirty-three and up to one hundred, 1s. 6d.; each additional fifty words, 6d.

NEW CALEDONIA.—Between all stations in Queensland and all stations in New Caledonia—Ordinary: For each word, 9d. Press: For each word, 4½d. Addresses and signatures counted.

Double the prescribed rates shall be charged on telegrams (Press telegrams excepted) tendered for transmission on Sunday, Christmas Day, and Good Friday; and on other days between 8 p.m. and 9 a.m local time, for transmission to offices where business is transacted during those hours.

Telegrams tendered for transmission must be written in a legible manner, in plain language, and when practicable on the proper form, and the address must contain all information necessary to avoid delay and insure delivery. The signature of the sender need not be transmitted, or a telegram may have an abbreviated signature known to the receiver, but the correct signature of the sender must appear on the back of each telegram as a guarantee of its authenticity, and as subscribing to the conditions under which it is transmitted. In the text amounts or numbers must be written in words only.

The charges must be prepaid by means of postage stamps, which may be obtained at any Post or Telegraph or Telephone Office. The public must affix the stamps to the telegram forms, and the officer to whom the telegrams are handed for transmission must cancel the stamps in the presence of the person from whom such telegrams are received.

Books of "unstamped" telegraph forms may be obtained, on giving timely notice, at any Telegraph or Telephone Office at a cost of 1s. per book of 100 forms.

Words which are habitually written as one word or coupled by hyphens shall be counted as one word, and those which are written without any hyphen, as two or three, as the case may be. Thus, O'Neil and O'Connell must be counted as one word; King of the Ring (name of racehorse) four words; Sir Joshua (name of racehorse) two words; City of Adelaide (name of ship) three words.

The prefix "St." must, however, be reckoned as part of a word, thus St. Kilda, St. James, St. Arnaud, shall be counted as one word each.

A multiple telegram may be addressed, either to several persons in the same locality or in different localities, but served by the same telegraph office, or to the same person at several addresses in the same locality, and shall be charged for as a single telegram with a further charge of 5d. for each 100 words or fraction of 100 words contained in each copy after the first. This regulation shall not apply to "Press" Telegrams.

Telegrams marked "Collect," addressed to places within the Commonwealth, may be accepted only when the sender is known to the officer in charge, and signs an undertaking on a printed form provided for the purpose, that in the event of the addressee refusing to pay the charges for the telegram, he or she will be responsible for the payment of the amount, and the cost of the telegram of advice of the non-payment by the addressee. The word "Collect" must appear in the preamble of the telegram, and be charged for.

The cost of a reply may be prepaid, and a reply-form shall then be delivered to the addressee, who shall be at liberty to send a telegram of the value prepaid, from any telegraph office within the State. A reply-form need not necessarily be used for a reply, but may be used to prepay or partly prepay any single telegram for transmission to any place within the Commonwealth, within three months from the date of issue.

Telegrams posted at a post office (which is not a telegraph or telephone office), or in a posting receptacle, shall be forwarded by first mail to the nearest telegraph or telephone office, and transmitted thence by telegraph or telephone to destination, provided the form on which the telegram is written bears unobliterated postage stamps, or is accompanied by cash, sufficient to defray the cost of such transmission, and that it be enclosed in an envelope (on which postage need not be paid) indorsed "Telegram only," addressed to the officer in charge at the nearest telegraph or telephone office. If the full amount payable for the transmission of the telegram be not enclosed, the latter shall be forwarded to its destination, but the addressee shall be required to pay, before delivery, the amount short-paid, together with the cost of the necessary instructions to the delivering office to collect the amount of deficiency.

Urgent telegrams for transmission to places within the Commonwealth, shall be accepted from the public on payment of double the ordinary fee. Such telegrams will be transmitted and delivered in preference to any other telegram. "Urgent" forms and envelopes must be used for "Urgent" telegrams.

When the sender of an urgent telegram prepays a reply, the officer accepting the telegram must ascertain if the reply is also to be treated as urgent or as an ordinary telegram, and the fact, as the case may be, must be stated in the preamble of the telegram, thus:—"Reply paid, urgent rate," or "Reply paid, ordinary rate." These words must be paid for by the sender of the telegram.

Telegrams shall be delivered, free of charge, within a radius of one mile, and on payment of 3d. if beyond one mile and within a radius of 1½ miles from the office of destination provided that messengers are attached to that office. If natural obstacles or other difficulties intervene, the Department shall not undertake delivery. Beyond the 1½-mile radius delivery expenses shall be chargd. For telegrams to be delivered on shipboard a charge for boat hire, if necessary, may be made.

No receipts from the addressees need be taken upon the delivery of telegrams originating in and delivered within the Commonwealth. Should it be necessary to obtain evidence of the delivery of a telegram, a receipt therefor, by telegram, may be ordered at the time such telegram is lodged for transmission, and shall be telegraphed back to the sender upon payment of ordinary telegraph charges, or, if desired, sent by post card on payment of 1d.

Senders of telegrams must invariably give every information they can to the officers of the Department that will facilitate delivery; if the sender omit to do so it is at his own risk. When it is found that the place to which a telegram is to be delivered is beyond the radius of 1½ miles from the office, and no porterage has been guaranteed or paid, the telegram may be posted from the office of receipt.

Where no messengers are employed telegrams remain at the office until called for. Arrangements have been made in many cases for special delivery, at fixed rates, of telegrams for places beyond the limits of free delivery.

Notices of removal and instructions in writing, respecting the delivery of telegrams at hours when the addressee's place of business is closed shall be registered free of charge. If no such instructions have been registered, and any additional service is performed in delivering a telegram at a second address in the same town, an extra charge of 6d. shall be made.

Ordinary telegrams take precedence of press telegrams between the hours of 9 a.m and 6.30 p.m., and all telegrams received at any one time addressed to the proprietor, publisher, or agent of a newspaper for transmission at press rates between the hours named may be restricted to 500 words.

Subscribers to telephone exchanges may transmit by telephone to any telegraph office which may be connected with a telephone exchange messages intended to be further transmitted from the telegraph office to the respective destinations of such messages as telegrams; provided they pay the usual cost of such telegrams in addition to the rates for transmission through the telephone.

Any person employed in a telegraph office may refuse to receive or transmit a telegram containing blasphemous, indecent, obscene, offensive, or scandalous matter in its contents, address, or signature.

Arrangements may be made to keep any official office open for the transmission of telegrams after the ordinary business hours, upon notice being given to the officer in charge, at least one hour before the ordinary time of closing, and upon payment of a deposit of 2s. 6d. for the first hour or portion thereof and 1s. 6d. for every subsequent hour, or portion thereof, during which it is desired the office shall be kept open. All telegrams transmitted must be paid for at the usual rates.

REDIRECTION.—A telegram may, on the written request of the addressee or his agent, be redirected and retransmitted from one office to another within the Commonwealth; such telegrams shall, on retransmission, be charged the full rate, which must be paid before delivery.

REPETITION OF TELEGRAMS.—In order to provide against mistakes in the transmission and delivery of telegrams, any telegram may be repeated by being retransmitted from the office of delivery to the sender on payment by the latter, at the time of lodgment, of 50 per cent. in addition to the ordinary rate. In such telegrams the word "repeat" must appear in the preamble of the telegrams and be charged for.

RECTIFICATION OF TELEGRAMS.—The receiver of a telegram may have the whole or part of it repeated on payment of the cost of the telegram demanding the repetition and of the reply to the same. The sender may also have the whole or any portion of his message repeated on payment of the cost of the telegram he forwards and of the reply.

The money paid for the repetition shall be refunded should such repetition show that the error was made in the original telegram, but shall be retained should no error have been made; provided, however, that when some words have been correctly, and some incorrectly, reproduced in the first telegram, the charge for words in the request for repetition, and in the reply relating exclusively to words correctly transmitted originally, shall not be refunded. No refund shall be made for words written in a doubtful manner, nor shall any claim be entertained for refund of cost of consequential telegram, that is, private telegrams which the addressee or sender causes to be sent in connection with any supposed error in a telegram.

TELEPHONE REGULATIONS.

Applications for connection with the telephone system must be made to the Deputy Postmaster-General, Brisbane.

All telephone lines, instruments, etc., in connection with the telephone system are erected and supplied by the Postmaster-General, the cost being borne by the Government, and no persons, except employees of the department are to be allowed to interfere with any wires, instruments, etc., under the Department's control. The following rates will be charged for the use of the lines and of one telephone set complete, in addition to service at the respective exchanges, viz.:—

	Per Annum. £ s. d.
Providing line of half-mile or under, one telephone set complete and service at exchange	6 0 0
Each additional half-mile of line or fraction thereof	1 5 0

For the foregoing charges all requisite attendance shall be given, and necessary adjustment, repairs, and renewals of lines, instruments, and batteries effected.

Telephone lines must be rented for not less than one year, or such longer period as the Deputy Postmaster-General may determine, and the use of any such line may be discontinued after the expiration of that period, or of any subsequent half-year, by the subscriber giving one calendar month's previous notice of his intention to discontinue the use of such line.

Rent payable in respect of any telephone line shall be charged from the date on which such line has been connected with the exchange. The first year's rent of any such line must be paid in advance, the next payment must be (in advance), for the proportion of rent payable for the period ending the calendar half-year immediately following the expiration of the first year, and thereafter rent must be paid half-yearly in advance: Provided, however, that in respect of lines, the cost of the construction of which will exceed the amount payable as rent for the first year, the subscriber may be called upon to pay in advance rent for such period as will cover the cost of construction of such line.

Persons occupying offices in the same building may jointly subscribe under the one exchange number, on payment (in addition to rental as for one person at the respective rates herein set forth) of £3 per annum for each additional set of instruments fixed in the several offices of such joint subscribers, or, if additional instruments be not required, £2 per annum for each additional name to be inserted in the Telephone Directory.

If additional instruments be required, the joint subscribers shall provide an attendant for their own local switchboard. Switch and bell, or switchboard, may be supplied by the Postmaster-General on rental, at the rate of 10s. per annum for switch and bell or per number on the switchboard.

Persons jointly occupying the same private residence may subscribe under the one exchange number, on payment (in addition to rental as for one person at the respective rates herein set forth) of £1 per annum for each additional name to be inserted in the Telephone Directory.

The annual rental charge for extra apparatus shall be:—Additional telephone instruments—ordinary, £2; special, including table sets, £2 10s.; if, instead of an ordinary wall set, the subscriber wishes to have a table telephone, the rental shall be increased by 10s.; for each shutter or jack on a switchboard, 10s.; intermediate switches or switches used to cut off a circuit from one telephone to another, with magneto bell, per set, 10s.; magneto extension bells, including two-way switch, 5s.; trembling-bell, 3in., with battery, including two-way switch, 10s.; trembling-bell, 5in. with battery, including two-way switch, 15s. Special appliances as per agreement.

Charitable institutions supported wholly or partly by public subscriptions shall be charged half the ordinary business rates.

Public Telephone Bureaux—Call Office Fees.—The call office fee shall be uniformly 3d. for a conversation of three minutes, or part of three minutes, whether the call be made by subscribers or non-subscribers.

Telephone Exchanges have been established at the following places in Queensland:—Albion, Brisbane, Bundaberg, Cairns, Charters Towers, Gympie, Ipswich, Longreach, Mackay, Maryborough, Mount Morgan, Nudgee, Ravenswood, Rockhampton, Toowong, Toowoomba, Townsville, Thursday Island, Warwick.

Telephone Trunk Lines.—Rates.

Where telephone trunk lines connect two towns, such lines may be used for conversations on payment of the fees prescribed hereunder:—For each conversation on lines—25 miles in length or under, three minutes 6d., every additional three minutes 4d.; over 25 and under 50 miles in length, 10d., 6d.; over 50 and under 75 miles in length, 1s. 2d., 9d.; over 75 and under 100 miles in length, 1s. 6d., 1s.; over 100 and under 125 miles in length, 1s. 10d., 1s. 2d.; over 125 and under 150 miles in length, 2s. 2d., 1s. 5d.; over 150 and under 175 miles in length, 2s. 6d., 1s. 8d.; over 175 and under 200 miles in length, 2s. 10d., 1s. 10d. The period for which a line may be used by any person shall not exceed six (6) minutes in cases where other persons are waiting to use the line.

Private Telephone Lines Between Houses, Offices, &c.

Private telephone lines (special single wire and instruments not connected with any exchange) may be provided and maintained between private houses, offices, warehouses, mines, factories, or other places on payment of the following rates annually in advance for a term of not less than three years, and subject to the same general conditions as lines to the Telephone Exchanges:—If within a radius of 20 miles of the capital or other large centre, for each quarter-mile or fraction thereof, radially up to 1 mile, £1 5s. per annum; for each additional half-mile or fraction thereof, radially, up to 20 miles, £1 5s.; outside 20 miles radius, at such rate as may be fixed by the Postmaster-General. Each set of telephones (magneto), £2.

TELEPHONING OF TELEGRAMS.—Subscribers to telephone exchanges may transmit by telephone to any telegraph office which may be connected with a telephone exchange messages intended to be further transmitted from the telegraph office to the respective destinations of such messages as telegrams; provided they pay the usual cost of such telegrams in addition to the rates for transmission through the telephone.

Subscribers may also, at their option, have telegrams addressed to them forwarded by telephone from the telegraph office of destination to their telephonic address, provided such telegraph office is connected with a telephone exchange; and copies of such telegrams will at the same time be posted for delivery to their address, stamped on the face "Transmitted by telephone."

A POSTAL GAZETTEER

BEING A LIST OF POST TOWNS, MONEY ORDER OFFICES, TELEGRAPH STATIONS, GOVERNMENT SAVINGS BANKS, AND RAILWAY STATIONS IN QUEENSLAND.

WITH TIMES OF DEPARTURE OF MAILS FROM BRISBANE.

EXPLANATION.—The name of the Post Town of Post Office is given; then its distance and bearings from Brisbane (or other town when specially mentioned); then whether it is a Money Order Office, Telegraph Station, Government Savings Bank, or Railway Station; name of Postmaster or Postmistress; and the day of the departure of the mail from Brisbane. When the locality is simply a Telegraph or Railway Station, it will be found indicated by the words "Tel. Stn." or "Ry. Stn." Distances are in some cases approximate only. At several of the Railway Stations the Station Master acts as Postmaster; as changes are frequently made the names are not given.

ABBREVIATIONS.—N.S.E.W. for the points of the compass; Tel. Stn. for Telegraph Station; Ry. Stn. for Railway Station; Mon., Tu., Wed., Th., Fri., Sat. for days of the week; M.O., Money Order Office.

There is now a daily overland mail to Sydney from Brisbane (except on Saturdays); time occupied in transit about 28 hours. The mail closes at the General Post Office at 6 a.m., letters can be posted at the Railway Station up to 6.55 a.m., and in the Travelling Post Office up to 7.10 a.m. by paying late fee of 1d.

The mails for Gympie, Maryborough, Bundaberg, and Mount Perry, and all places en route are now carried by train daily except Sunday. The mails to Gladstone and Rockhampton are also carried by rail, leaving Brisbane every Mon., Wed., and Fri., night at 10 p.m., arriving at Rockhampton at 3.50 p.m. next day.

Under the new Northern Mail Contract there are three services, as under:—

A weekly service between Gladstone and Townsville; mails leave Brisbane by train on Friday night, arriving in Gladstone on Saturday morning, leaving that port at 2 p.m. by steamer calling at Mackay and Bowen, arriving at Townsville early on Monday morning, returning on Monday night, reaching Brisbane on Thursday morning.

A weekly service between Townsville and Cairns, via intermediate parts, leaving Townsville Monday morning, arriving at Cairns on Tuesday, 10 p.m.

A weekly service in connection with mails to and from Port Douglas and Cooktown. Mails are carried by steamer leaving Brisbane on Saturday, arriving at Port Douglas on Thursday, 3 p.m.

Letters for the inland mails can be posted at the General Post Office up to 8 o'clock p.m. In some cases when the mails close very early in the morning the previous day is given.

Travelling post offices are attached to the trains from and to and to and from Brisbane, Toowoomba, Wallangarra and Charleville, Brisbane and Gladstone and Rockhampton and Longreach, Townsville and Winton. They are in charge of 12 mail officers, who make up mails for the different stations on the road.

SIGNALS IN USE AT BRISBANE SIGNAL STATION.

FOR DENOTING THE MOVEMENTS OF VESSELS.

The numbers of the Pendants may be easily recognised, from their comprising as many stripes or stars as they are intended to represent. Any number higher than nine is indicated by one Pendant over another—2 over 8 indicating 28 (Sydney). When two of the same figure require to be shown, as 11 or 22, the White Pendant is used to indicate the second number. Eleven (11) Cork, would be shown by the Pendant for the 1 and the Substitute beneath it.

DESCRIPTIVE FLAGS.

Blue and Yellow Chequer .. .. STEAMER
Blue Flag .. .. SHIP
Blue Flag with White Square in Centre BARQUE
White Flag with Red Square in Centre BRIG
Red Flag with Yellow Square in Centre SCHOONER
Yellow Flag with Blue Square in Centre CUTTER OR KETCH

DISTINGUISHING PENDANTS.

FIRST—White, with small red circle
SECOND—Blue, with white circle
THIRD—Red, with white circle

EXPLANATION OF SIGNALS.

The Numeral Pendants show the Port whence the vessel is coming. The hoisting of the Numeral Pendant ABOVE Descriptive Flag shows that two or more vessels of the same description are arriving from the same port.

When only one vessel arrives, the signal is kept flying for one hour; when more than one, half-an-hour is allowed for each signal.

NIGHT SIGNALS, BRISBANE.

The following is the code of Night Signals in use at the Signal Station, Wickham-terrace, up till 10 p.m. :—

Steamer from North at Cape Moreton .. Red Light
Steamer from South at Cape Moreton .. Green Light
Steamer from North at Pile Lighthouse .. Red over Green Light
Steamer from South at Pile Lighthouse .. Green over Red Light
Steamer from North in River.. .. .. Red over White Light
Steamer from South in River.. .. .. Green over White Light
Man-of-war at Cape Moreton .. .. Two red vertical Man-of-war at Pile Lighthouse .. . Two green vertical Man-of-war in River .. Two white vertical

For two or more steamers a white light will be hoisted above the ordinary signal.

The signal denoting that steamers are in the river will be kept up until they arrive at the wharf.

The Steamers of firms or Companies are notified by the flags of the respective company or owners being hoisted.

EXPLANATION OF FLAGS.

A Blue and White Flag at the North or South Yard-arm—denotes a vessel to be in sight, North or South of Cape Moreton, according to the arm on which it is hoisted.

Descriptive Flag (see previous paragraph)—is hoisted instead of the Blue and White Flag when the rig of the vessel can be made out.

Second Distinguishing Pendant below Descriptive Flag—shows that the steamer is entering by the South Passage.

Signal from Mast-head—the vessel or steamer is entering the Port. (When this signal is hoisted, the Numeral Pendants showing the Port sailed from, are hoisted below it.)

White Flag under Descriptive Flag—Vessel is coming up the River.

Third Distinguishing Pendant below Descriptive Flag—Steamer at Pile Lighthouse anchor.

Number 0 under Descriptive Flag—Vessel returning to Port.
